Throne Speech Reveals Legislative Plans

Red Ensign Made Temporary Canadian Flag Pending House Approval of Suitable Design

By FRANK FLAHERTY

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Announcement that the government has directed use of the red ensign as a distinctive Canadian flag, pending the approval by parliament of a particular design for a flag was made in the Speech from the Throne at the opening today of the 20th session of parliament.

The red ensign which Canadian forces carried into battle and which has been the official Canadian flag outside Canada for some years flew today from the peace tower on Parliament buildings as members gathered for the first session of the new parliament.

The 2,500-word speech, read by the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General, in the Senate chamber, said the Senate and House of Commons will be asked to appoint a joint committee to consider "a suitable design for a Canadian flag."

With expressions of thankfulness that the war is ended, the speech directed the attention of members to legislation for the period of reconstruction and the long-range maintenance of peace.

Legislation Forecast for the Session:

1. Defining Canadian citizenship and bringing the law on national status, naturalization and immigration into conformity.

2. Additional measures to assist in relief of destitute people and rehabilitating devastated areas in Europe.

3. Ratification of the charter of the United Nations establishing a permanent peace-maintenance organization.

4. Extending specified emergency executive powers for the reconstruction period.

5. Measures to stimulate external trade.

6. Approval of Canadian participation in the international monetary fund and bank for reconstruction and development.

Two Departments Being Merged

7. Merging the Department of Munitions and Supply with the Department of Reconstruction into a single department of reconstruction and supply.

8. Abolishing the National War Services Department.

"I join with you in giving humble and grateful thanks to divine providence for the deliverance which his mercy has vouch-safed to the peoples of our own and other lands," said the speech.

"We of this day and generation have been the witnesses

On Allied Entry

Famous Flag Will Fly Over Japan Capital

From CP, AP and British UP Dispatches

HEADQUARTERS ALLIED ARMY OF OCCUPATION, YOKOHAMA, Sept. 6.—The same star-studded American flag which was flying from the dome of the capitol in Washington on December 7, 1941, the day of the treacherous Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, will fly over Tokyo on Saturday when General Douglas MacArthur makes his victorious entry into the vanquished capital at the head of the Allied Army of Occupation.

The flag was also flown at the different Big Three conferences, and it also floated from the mast-head of the battleship Missouri when the Japanese emissaries signed the surrender terms in Tokyo Bay last Sunday.

Full details of the Allied entry into Tokyo have not yet been worked out, but General MacArthur is expected to enter the Japanese capital with the vanguard of the 1st American Cavalry Division

At Penhold

Report Is Made On Destruction Of Radio Parts

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Air Minister Gibson announced last night he had received a report from Air Commodore S. G. Tackaberry concerning peacetime destruction of certain airborne radio equipment at No. 2 Technical Signals Unit of the RCAF at Penhold, Alta, and said though its original value was approximately $600,000, the actual value of serviceable parts would not exceed a few hundred dollars.

The report added that in the opinion of technical officers, the cost of erecting and assembling parts of the destroyed equipment would "have far exceeded their value."

CAUSE OF PROBE

The investigation arose out of the publication of statements attributed to Arthur H. Wray, member of the Alberta legislature for Banff-Cochrane, that millions of dollars worth of radio equipment had been destroyed at the Penhold RCAF station.

Boeing Workers Are Discharged

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Officials of Boeing Aircraft of Canada Co., Ltd., announced last night that its contract for B29 Superfortress bomb bays has been cancelled and about 2,300 employees were discharged yesterday.

The officials said they were notified late yesterday of the cancellation of the contract because of drastic reduction in United States government's heavy bomber production and nearly all employees but key personnel and maintenance men were given seven days' notice.

About 5,000 employees were working on V-J Day at Boeing's suburban Sea Island plant and since then approximately 2,300 had been discharged before yesterday. The discharge of another 2,300 yesterday left only a skeleton staff.

SEATTLE, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Boeing Aircraft Company announced yesterday a drastic cutback of previously planned production schedules had been ordered by the war department and that it would shut down its Wichita, Kansas, plant and its seven Washington operations for an indefinite period, laying off the majority of 29,000 employees.

To Cost $400,000

60 Dwellings Proposed for Ex-Servicemen

The mining ghost town of Brule, recently disposed of by the provincial department of lands and mines, soon will re-appear in Edmonton in the guise of 60 dwellings to be erected for exclusive occupancy of ex-servicemen. The project will cost approximately $400,000.

It was learned Thursday that arrangements had been made through the Prudential Life Assurance Co., for loans under the National Housing Act covering the construction of the 60 homes.

They will be erected, according to present plans, on sites located on 113 and 114 streets between 108 and 109 avenues. It is estimated that the homes will sell for approximately $5,000 to $5,200.

SEASONED MATERIAL

The material to be used in the construction of the dwellings is all seasoned fir, and has been passed by executive officers of National Housing.

It was stated that all building materials necessary for the completion of the homes have been assembled, and that work on the project has started.

It is planned to complete the basements and superstructure of all the homes before freeze-up, and it is possible that some of them will be ready for occupancy this fall.

British Imperials Reoccupy Big Base

By McQUOWN WRIGHT

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

SINGAPORE, Sept. 6.—(BUP)—More than 85,000 Japanese troops laid down their arms and evacuated Singapore today as British Imperial forces moved in to re-occupy the great Far Eastern naval base.

Marching smartly through streets jammed with cheering natives, British and Indian troops took over the dockyards and fortifications they lost to the Japanese more

An official communique said the re-occupation was proceeding according to plan without opposition. The surrendering Japanese were disarmed and permitted to withdraw across the causeway from Singapore Island to the Malayan mainland.

BOOTY TAKEN AWAY

British troops guarding the causeway found a number of Japanese attempting to carry off loot from the city. They were searched on the spot and stripped of all their booty.

Estimate Wheat Yields to Vary 10-25 Bushels

Harvesting in the Edmonton area is now in full swing after being delayed by damp weather, and estimates of the yields show wheat from 10 to 25 bushels an acre; oats, 15 to 30, and barley 12 to 20 bushels, according to the fortnightly crop report issued Thursday by the provincial department of agriculture.

Very little threshing has been done in this section yet but 35 per cent of the wheat is cut and 60 per cent of the barley crop. To date only about 35 per cent of the oats crop has been taken off.

Considerable hail damage is reported from some areas in the province and frost is reported from widely scattered sections, although little damage is indicated with the exception of the west central portion of the province where some reduction in yield and quality may result.

In the southern areas and Peace River district threshing is progressing with approximately 30 per cent completed in the south and about 20 per cent in Peace River.

Yields are reported variable throughout the province generally

Vidkun Quisling Angrily Denies Treason Guilt

By SAMUEL D. HALES

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

OSLO, Sept. 6.—(BUP)—Vidkun Quisling delivered his own defence summation today and denied angrily that he had been guilty of treason, murder or theft in his five-year reign as Nazi puppet ruler of Norway.

Alternately whining for mercy and bellowing defiance at the prosecution, Quisling swore that he had acted only to prevent the communization of Norway.

"There is no riddle of Quisling, but the riddle is the Norwegian people," he shouted. "That I who for 40 years have done so much for my country should be a traitor —that is the riddle."

PLEADS OLD NAME

Quisling, whose name gave the world a new synonym for treachery, pleaded that his was an old and "honorable" Norwegian name.

"Bjoernson and Ibsen (famous Norwegian writers) belong to my family," he said.

Quisling denounced Soviet Russia, accused Moscow of plotting with Norwegian leaders to communize Norway.

He also took a back-handed slap at the Norwegian Jews, many of whom he is accused of sending into Nazi death camps in Poland.

"One speaks of Jews," he exclaimed. "I rescued many Jews in Russia. (Apparently referring to his relief work there after the last world war.) But the Jews would never give food to other people, but let the Christians starve."

Farmers Urged To Buy Yearly Feed Supplies

Only nine days remain until the lifting on Sept. 15, of the Dominion government holding order which prevents the eastward shipment of oats and barley from Alberta, and farmers in this province are urged by provincial government authorities to purchase their full feed requirements for the year before the restriction is waived.

A. M. Wilson, field crops commissioner for the department of agriculture said Thursday: "the feed grain situation can become very serious because our supplies are almost depleted and the crop that is coming off is much lower than in other years. In addition, there is a terrific demand for feed grains from other countries and from Eastern and Western Canada. Any farmer who has a partial supply of feed should buy all he needs to meet his full requirements right now and not wait until his own supply is gone."

The commissioner said there is very little feed grain in the province at the present time, running

Fauteux Named House Speaker

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Dr. Gaspard Fauteux of Montreal today unanimously was elected speaker of the House of Commons amid preparations for the official opening of the first session of Canada's 20th parliament.

All party leaders commended the choice of Dr. Fauteux, who was nominated speaker last week by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, but John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, criticized the government for not consulting a speaker in advance.

Mr. Bracken, speaking for the first time in the Commons, said that the choice of a speaker was a matter for private members and not for the government. In the British parliament a speaker was nominated by a private member and the choice was seconded by a private member.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King said the government had simply followed the practice of all Canadian parliaments since Confederation. The government followed the custom of nominating a speaker to avoid the danger that the choice did not meet the wishes of the members they would be in position to make their opposition known.

Quebec Increases Grants to Mothers

QUEBEC, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Premier Duplessis yesterday announced an increase in provincial allowances to needy mothers and provincial additions to federal family allowances to make up the difference in the diminishing scale of federal allowances when the number of eligible children exceeds four.

In another announcement, the premier disclosed that an arbitration board would have the final say in settling the amount of indemnity to be paid shareholders of the expropriated Montreal Light Heat and Power Consolidated and two associated companies, Montreal Island Power and Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Co.

In his family allowance announcement, Mr. Duplessis said that an order-in-council had been passed providing that the provincial government would pay the amounts necessary to bring allowances for children after the fifth up to the same scale paid by the federal government for the first five.

Orders Court of Inquiry Into Abuse of Reporters

VANCOUVER, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Major-General F. F. Worthington, general officer commanding-in-chief, Pacific command, today ordered an army court of inquiry into circumstances surrounding the action of several regimental police who last night allegedly prevented several Vancouver newspapermen and photographers from reporting the arrival from overseas of a group of British Columbia war veterans.

The court of inquiry will sit here today. Members of the press party, army public relations officers, and members of the station regimental police detail have been summoned to attend.

"Members of the press are my personal guests at these homecomings . . . the papers have done an excellent job of helping to give these lads a proper welcome," Gen. Worthington said. "My orders are that they should be given every possible co-operation."

Major C. R. Reid, second-in-command at little mountain barracks here and senior officer in charge at the depot, said in an interview that he was at the station during the alleged incident but that he saw no interference with the press.

"Any such action as has been reported was taken by the men on their own responsibility," Maj. Reid said.

REPORT OF INCIDENT

"Abusive language was used within hearing of many of the crowd of nearly 1,000 waiting the train's arrival by a tall Canadian Scottish corporal who roughly treated a partially-disabled news photographer," said the Vancouver News-Herald in a newspaper story.

"When the photographer asked that he be spoken to in polite language the corporal became more abusive and shoved him backwards, motioning to strike the photographer," the paper continued.

"Other members of the news party, who objected to the corporal's actions, were cursed at and told they would be thrown out" the army captain and other members of the army guard on duty joined in menacing the press."

Inquest Today In Trelle Death

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Sept. 6.—(BUP)—An inquest was scheduled today in the death of former Canadian wheat king Herman William Trelle, 50, for which rancher hand John Gilliberte is jailed on a murder charge.

Gilliberte surrendered to Sheriff's deputies yesterday after hiding in a clump of shade trees in nearby Fontana since the shooting Saturday.

He told officers that Trelle, five-time wheat king who took 18 world wheat and oat championships from 1926-33, was shot when the two men scuffled for a gun after Trelle tried to evict him from a ranch. Trelle was formerly of Wembley, Alta.

In a deathbed statement, Trelle declared that Gilliberte shot him without provocation. Police said Trelle had succeeded Gilliberte as a ranch manager.

Transitional Bill

Limited Tax Reductions Are Proposed by Truman

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—President Truman recommended to Congress today speedy enactment of a transitional tax bill to provide "limited tax reductions" for the calendar year 1946.

The recommendation was included in a 16,000-word message sent to congress on the second day of its post-war emergency session.

"Like the Tax Adjustment Act of 1945," the President said, "the new bill should aim principally at removing barriers to speedy reconversion and to the expansion of our peacetime economy."

Estimating war expenditures for the current fiscal year will total about $50,000,000,000 of total expenditures of $60,000,000,000, the president said that with current receipts estimated at only $36,00,000,000, "we face an estimated deficit of $30,000,000,000 in the current fiscal year."

OTHER PROPOSALS

In his message the President also recommended

Jap Emperor Made Decisions

Hirohito Decided on Surrender To Allies as Early as June 22

By THOMAS J. O'DONNELL
Baltimore Sun War Correspondent
(Distributed by The Canadian Press)

TOKYO, Sept. 6.—The Emperor of Japan decided as early as June 22 to surrender to the Allies, long before the atom bomb was used and the Russians entered the war, I was informed yesterday by Into Nasegawa, foreign service manager of the Domei agency, who played some little part in the subsequent proceedings.

Hasegawa, who spent five years in London up to December, 1941, said the emperor decided to call it quits after having lost all confidence in the Japanese army.

While the Japanese navy staked all its remaining strength in the defence of Okinawa, Hasegawa said, the army did not.

The army's strategy was to wait until the Americans actually invaded the homeland and therefore it would not commit any considerable number of troops to Okinawa, he said.

The decision on June 22 was a secret conference with certain cabinet ministers and elder statesmen and decided then and there to sue for peace.

The conference was held at night in the Imperial Palace and was kept secret from the people and even military leaders.

The first step, Hasegawa said, was an approach by the then foreign minister of Japan to the Russian government with an offer to send one of Japan's most important officials to Russia to ask for Soviet mediation. The Russian

INTERESTED IN WEST

From 1921 to 1925 he was Conservative member of the House of Commons for Lambton West.

Through his connection with Imperial Oil he had a direct personal interest in oil development in Western Canada, particularly in the Turner Valley and the Norman Wells fields. He was closely identified with oil exploration in South America through International Petroleum.

In 1918 he was married to the former Rosa Larranaga of Lima, Peru, who survives with three children.

BORN IN SARNIA

He was president of the Ontario branch of the St. John Ambulance Association, trustee of the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children, a member of the board of governors of Trinity College School and vice-chairman of the National War Finance committee for Ontario.

Born in Sarnia in 1881, the son of the late R. E. LeSueur and Sara (Sillington) LeSueur, he was educated in Sarnia schools and graduated from the University of Toronto and Osgoode Hall. On his graduation he became associated with the late Hon. W. J. Hanna and was a member of the Sarnia law firm of Hanna, LeSueur and Dobson.

In 1926 he was elected a director of International Petroleum and in 1935 became a vice-president of that firm and of Imperial Oil. He was elected president of both companies in 1944 and named chairman of the board of both in 1945.

Red Ensign Made Temporary Canadian Flag Pending House Approval of Suitable Design

of a mighty manifestation of the workings of the moral law which inexorably connects wrong-doing with retribution. It is as applicable to nations as to men.

"In this titanic conflict between the forces of good and evil it has been ours to behold the triumph of right and justice. In this victory we find the assurance of the ultimate triumph of righteousness as we seek to bring into being a new order founded on world security and social justice."

Victory was bought at a great price, said the speech which paid tribute to the fighting forces of Canada and other United Nations, expressed sympathy for those bereaved and the maimed and made special mention of prisoners now liberated from the Japanese.

SUCCESSFUL STRAFF

The speech said the recent Dominion-provincial conference made a "successful beginning" in considering proposals directed to high employment, high income and Dominion-wide social security. The governments hoped when the conference resumed, an agreement would be reached which would make possible a "reorganization of the Dominion tax structure on a simpler, more equitable basis, conducive to the expansion of enterprise and employment."

Reference to extension of "specified emergency powers" is understood to foretell a peacetime version of the War Measures Act under which the government exercised wide powers of legislation by order-in-council.

The measure has to do with the government's announced policy of continuing some war time controls, including those applied to prices and wages for a time after the end of hostilities. Whereas the War Measures Act powers are "general" the powers under the new bill will be specified.

EXTERNAL TRADE

Measures contemplated "to stimulate the restoration and expansion of external trade" are expected to include credits for Britain and other countries, enlargement of the lending powers under the export credits insurance act of last session and perhaps some tariff changes.

The Canadian flag proposal and the legislation forecast on Canadian citizenship were predicted by Prime Minister Mackenzie King in his election campaign speech at Winnipeg in May.

On these points the speech had this to say: "My ministers believe that the position attained by our country among the nations of the world makes it desirable that Canada, like the other nations of the British Commonwealth, should possess a distinctive national flag . . .

CLARIFY CITIZENSHIP

The government also considers it advisable to revise and clarify the definition of Canadian citizenship and to bring legislation respecting national status, naturalization and immigration into conformity with the definition of citizenship."

Present citizenship definition is in the immigration act and there are references to these matters in other statutes. A new and separate act dealing with citizenship may be proposed.

mand from Singapore to the northern side of the causeway, because it meant living in native huts instead of the city's swank mansions. He was "overruled" in short order.

Among the 85,000 surrendering Japanese were 85 generals and an undetermined number of admirals.

RELEASE PRISONERS

British military authorities released a large number of British, American and Allied prisoners of war held in Singapore and began telling the native population to uncover those who had collaborated with the Japanese.

Street battles were still frequent after dark between Chinese underground units and native collaborationists who have been unable to escape from the city. One report estimated that at least 100 persons have been killed.

Under the terms of preliminary agreements signed at Rangoon—which holds good until a formal surrender ceremony takes place between Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten and Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi—the Japanese officials continued to be responsible for civil administration.

However British authorities, preparing to take over within the next few days, have already established a civil affairs office in Singapore's new supreme court building.

TO CONFINE MAYOR

The mayor was ordered to assemble all department heads. After directing each departmental chief to continue functioning the mayor, himself will be confined to his home for screening and further investigation.

British officers, led by Col. P. J. D. Regester, immediately suspended the Japanese chief of police and replaced him with a native civil servant. Chinese and Malayan civil servants who served during the Japanese occupation will be used throughout the new administration. Under international law there is no stigma attached to a civil servant for continuing his duties while his country is occupied.

British food control officers acted quickly to combat inflation and skyrocketing prices. They will decide the best method for distributing 5,500-tons of rice which will be brought in shortly.

Farmers Urged To Buy Yearly Feed Supplies

about 340 bushels of oats for each elevator and about 130 bushels of barley.

Compared with last year the grain in storage is seriously low. At August 15 last year there were 2,390,000 bushels of oats in elevators in Alberta, compared with 655,000 bushels this year.

The barley situation is similar, with 878,000 bushels in the elevators in August last year, compared with 245,000 bushels this year.

"In addition to this sharp decline in the amount of feed grain in storage there is also the fact that last year there were large supplies of oats and barley being held in granaries on farms while this year there is very little," Mr. Wilson said.

WILL MOVE FAST

The commissioner said there has not been any indication of what action will be taken when the holding order expires on Sept. 15 but he pointed out that if all the barriers are removed from shipment of oats and barley, the demand is so great that it will move out of the province very quickly.

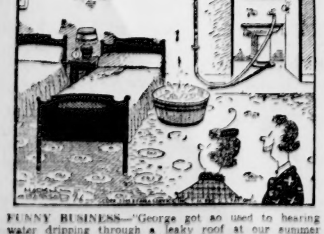

Elevators receive no storage fees on barley and oats and they will move their supplies out as quickly as possible, it was explained. If Alberta farmers are going to require extra feed along about December or January they should buy it now because at that time it is quite likely to have been sold.

Mr. Wilson suggested that farmers should survey their neighboring district in search of feed grains and if this is unfruitful they should apply to their grain elevator agent.

Insurance Firms Prepared to Aid Housing Projects

OTTAWA—Sept. 6— (CP) —Finance Minister Ilsley said in a statement last night that the way had been cleared for life insurance companies to make agreements with the government for the erection of rental housing projects under the National Housing Act with preference for ex-servicemen's families.

"I have reason to believe that the life insurance companies will have some definite plans to announce in the near future," said Mr. Ilsley.

One Formerly British Chain of Pacific Bases Sought for U.S. Warships

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—The Navy recommended yesterday that the United States retain a vast post-war ring of naval bases spanning the Pacific, including one base that was formerly British.

It also called for six permanent major bases in the Atlantic, including one at Bermuda and another at Argentia, Newfoundland.

Stretching from the Aleutians to the Admiralties, the proposed Pacific line of bases would lie athwart that ocean to support far-ranging fleets and keep aggression far from United States shores.

NINE MAJOR BASES

Nine major bases were included in this list which Assistant Secretary H. Struve Hensel described as "limited to those we should intend to maintain and which are susceptible to defence." They are:

Kodiak and Adak in the Aleutians; Hawaii; Guam, Saipan and Tinian in the Marianas (considered as one base); Iwo Jima in the Bonins and Volcano Island groups; Okinawa, in the Ryukyus; the Philippines, and Manus in the Admiralties.

The last, southernmost of the group, was British before the war, and affords one of the finest fleet anchorages in the Pacific.

SEEK MANY OTHERS

In addition to the nine major Pacific bases, Mr. Hensel said at a news conference, the navy was recommending that many others be kept, not as essential to the navy's needs, but primarily to prevent them from being used by any other country.

While not identifying all in that category, he named as examples Wake, Midway, Eniwetok, Kwajalein and Truk, the last Japan's strongest outpost before the Pacific war.

On the Atlantic side, the naval leaders said, the navy's recommendations call for maintenance of major bases at Argentia, Newfoundland; at Bermuda; Roosevelt Roads in Puerto Rico; San Juan, Puerto Rico; Giantanamo Bay, Cuba; and Coco Solo, Canal Zone.

The navy has used Argentia throughout the war as its principal North Atlantic base for Transatlantic air operations.

Allied Experts Talk Economic Unity in Reich

By HENRY BUCKLEY

BERLIN, Sept. 6.—(Reuters)—Financial experts of the British, American, Russian and French sections of the Allied Control Commission will meet here this week to discuss economic unity for Germany, agreed upon at the Potsdam conference.

Agreement must be reached on three main issues — one central currency and banking policy; central taxation and customs policy; wages and price control.

Without common policies, Germany would remain divided into two watertight compartments, with Britain, the United States and France pursuing their way, and Russia going another direction. However, as the three great powers agreed at Potsdam to such unity and there is no reason to expect any serious disagreements by France, it should be possible for the experts to achieve practical results.

URGENT PROBLEM

The first urgent necessity is for agreement on the amount of currency which will circulate in Germany as a whole and what value it will have with some international standard.

The next point is that of the banking system. In the Russian zone the banks are functioning under the general control of 280 finance officers. Nazi organizations and Nazi officials have their accounts blocked, but private persons can draw freely.

Approximately half the bank holdings are in German government securities. Until, therefore, they know whether these have any value, and what this is, the banks do not know if they are solvent or not. So the Allies have also to decide their policy on this point in order to revive the banking machinery in motion again.

In the Russian zone all banks are closed. The Russians have established large banks in large towns such as Berlin and Dresden, and no payments between the various towns are possible.

Report Is Made On Destruction Of Radio Parts

Air Commodore Tackaberry was sent Ottawa to investigate.

The report of Air Commodore Tackaberry was not released, but in his statement Air Minister Gibson said the equipment destroyed in Penhold "consisted of 12 and 24-volt airborne radio equipment which does not include the standard broadcast band, and whose use was dependent on power supply from the aircraft for which it was designed."

"This equipment had been classified as category "E", indicating that it was, in need of major repairs or overhaul and of low priority as serviceable parts that could readily be extracted were removed and while it is possible that some of it might have been useable their salvage value was not proportionate to the cost of reclamation.

ORIGINAL COST HIGH

"While the original cost of the equipment destroyed was in the neighborhood of $600,000 the actual value of the serviceable parts would not exceed a few hundred dollars and in the opinion of the technical officers the cost of extracting serviceable parts would have far exceeded their value.

The minister said that serviceable equipment, surplus to RCAF requirements, is turned over to War Assets Corporation, the government war goods disposal organization, but that instructions have been received from War Assets Corporation to destroy certain equipment which is no longer serviceable and for which no market is available.

With the present decline in RCAF requirements, the minister said, it was likely that large quantities of serviceable signal equipment, both ground and air, would become available through War Assets Corporation, but it was doubtful if the demand for airborne radio equipment by commercial air line, radio dealers, the general public, universities and other educational institutions, would approach the available supply.

OUT OF PROPORTIONS

With such stocks of serviceable equipment available, the cost of repairing category "E" equipment was "out of proportion to its possible value and in the interests of economy it was considered advisable to dispose of it as scrap metal," the minister said.

CLAIMS INVESTIGATION WAS "OF NO VALUE"

CALGARY, Sept. 6 — (CP) — Arthur H. Wray, Social Credit member of the Alberta Legislature for Banff-Cochrane, said in a statement to the Calgary Albertan last night that Air Minister Gibson's "secret internal investigation" of charges of destruction of equipment at the RCAF station at Penhold, Alta., "have been of no value."

Commenting on this, Mr. Wray said in his statement, "the matter cannot be allowed to drop with Mr. Gibson's statement. He said exactly what I expected him to say, and his secret internal investigation has been of no value. Not until a royal commission has been appointed to look into the destruction at Penhold and many of these other air stations will the public be satisfied. . . ."

with some of the poorer regions reporting fair yields and wide differences occurring in the better areas.

Pasture conditions in the province have improved during the last month and livestock is in satisfactory condition.

Marketings of livestock during August showed an exceptionally heavy run of cattle, the report revealed. At the end of August unfinished. At the Edmonton stockyards more than 15,000 cattle were received, 5,000 of which were marketed during the last week of the month.

The improvement in pasture conditions has increased the receipts of butter at creameries, particularly in the west central and northern areas.

The feed crop prospects throughout the province are generally only fair and in the Edmonton district the outlook is poor.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(BUP) —The senate voted today for a special administration - endorsed congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor disaster. Prompt approval by the house was promised the administration leaders.

Occupation Chronology

By The Canadian Press

(All times Japanese—12 hours ahead of central daylight.)

Sept. 2—Japanese signs formal surrender aboard battleship Missouri. Occupation forces increased to 35,000 men by 8th Army landings in Tokyo bay area.

Emperor Hirohito orders people to disarm.

Truk, Palaus and Rota garrisons surrender.

Sept. 3—Gen. Yamashita surrenders 40,000 Japanese forces remaining in Philippines; Bonin islands surrender.

Americans occupy four more air fields around Tokyo.

U.S. 7th Fleet forces reach Dairen, Manchuria.

Australian officers make first surrender contact with Japanese leaders on oil-rich Borneo island.

Sept. 4—Americans land on Kyushu; dismounted cavalry lands at Chiba peninsula on Tokyo bay's east side. Gen. MacArthur orders prison camps be turned over to senior officers and authorizes requisitioning by American forces.

British authorities proclaim military administration for liberated Hong Kong, scene of gallant British-Canadian fighting before surrender to Japanese Christmas Day, 1941. British warships anchor at Singapore. Chinese flying to take over Nanking. Wake Island reoccupied by Americans.

Sept. 5—Indian 9th Division troops begin reoccupation of Singapore; Australian and Chinese commanders put finishing touches on arrangements to receive surrender of Japanese forces in Dutch East Indies, Southwest Pacific islands and China. MacArthur directs commanding general of First Japanese Army, in Tokyo area, to report to Lt.-Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, commander United States 8th Army, for instructions covering entry of American troops into Tokyo.

Imperial Diet hears report on causes of surrender from Premier Higashi-Kuni, who blames atomic bombings climaxing military defeats and exhaustion of home front.

rent assessment notices to the meeting and compared them with the 1944 assessment:

Clifford Picard, grocer, showed an assessment of $4,140 compared with $850 for 1944, while Alex Onifriew showed an assessment notice of $2,955 compared with $150 for 1944. Other taxpayers showed similar increases which they declared were out of all reason. One taxpayer whose taxes were $29.30 last year is called upon to pay $1,640 this year. Others showed the following changes: 1944 $2,050, 1945 $5,370; 1944 $100, 1945 $2,020; 1944 $850, 1945 $2,010; 1944 $580, 1945 $2,066; 1944 $90, 1945 $1,500.

In every instance the tax assessment had been increased several hundred per cent, and a number of businessmen stated that the new tax rate would force them out of business if some relief is not given.

The executive committee was instructed to take the matter up with the provincial government, and meantime the union is considering refusal to pay taxes until the matter is adjusted.

Report Extreme Labor Shortage Has Now Passed

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Evidence that the period of extreme labor shortage has passed was reported yesterday by the labor department in a review of the Canadian manpower situation at Aug. 24.

"The employment situation is still out of balance in that there are still more unfilled jobs than there are applicants for work," the departmental statement said. "On the other hand, the figures indicating short supply are starting to drop and there is an indication that the period of extreme labor shortage has passed."

The number of jobs to be filled was 124,000 at Aug. 24, a reduction of 7,000 from the figures of two weeks previous. To fill these vacancies, 53,000 workers were available, 3,000 more than the fortnight before.

"The decrease in requirements for war production has been offset to some extent by an upward trend in the demand for workers for civilian industries," the department said. "The downward trend in jobs and the upward swing in applicants indicate clearly that the post-war readjustment of the labor market is already under way."

Neither releases from war plants nor the recent compulsory registration of building tradesmen employed in other industries has so far brought any measure of relief to the construction industry where the shortage of experienced workers is most acute.

Canadian Deaths At Hong Kong 419

By WILLIAM STEWART

SHAMSHUIPO CAMP, Kowloon, Sept. 5.—(CP)—Lt.-Col. James Home of Quebec, commanding officer of Canadian prisoners-of-war at this camp, said in a statement issued upon liberation that Canadian deaths from all causes at Hong Kong since hostilities began until Friday totalled 419.

Col. Home, commanding officer of the Royal Rifles of Canada, one of the units to distinguish itself in the siege of Hong Kong in 1941, said the number included 290 killed in action, and of wounds or missing and 129 died of sickness.

Col. Home's figures for deaths by sickness referred to deaths occurring at Hong Kong only. Canadians there at the time it was issued numbered 2,000. Those who left for camps in Japan at various times, some as early as 1943, numbered 1,184. He termed the majority of Canadians at Hong Kong "in fair condition."

Canadian formations in the defence of Hong Kong included the Royal Rifles of Canada, from Quebec province, the Winnipeg Grenadiers, and a headquarters company.

Famous Flag Will Fly Over Japan Capital

which will spearhead the move. It is expected that the Allied troops will move in at 6 a.m. Saturday, Tokyo time (3 p.m. Friday, MDT) and that 8,000 officers and men of the 1st Cavalry Division, together with token forces of other Allied troops, will form the occupying units.

General MacArthur will be present at the flag-raising ceremony at the American embassy, just across the street from Emperor Hirohito's palace, and will make his headquarters in the Embassy.

Considerable difficulty is being experienced in finding suitable office space and billets for the new headquarters in bombed-out Tokyo, and General MacArthur will probably return to Yokohama temporarily after the flag-raising ceremony, but ultimately the permanent headquarters of the occupying forces will be Tokyo.

SENDS AWAY SWORDS

General MacArthur also issued orders today to send the 700-year-old Samurai sword taken from Admiral Gen. Toroyuki Yahashita after his surrender, to the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, as "a memento of the services rendered by its sons in the vital struggle which proved so decisive in the war with Japan".

He sent the sword of Vice-Admiral Okochi, Japanese naval commander in the Philippines to the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, with a similar message.

That the occupation of Japan will not be easy for the Allies is evident from the first orders issued by General MacArthur today when he clamped a double-barrelled dawn curfew and other restrictive measures, with penalties ranging up to death, on the Tachikawa area, only miles west of Tokyo.

The orders, revealed in a Tokyo radio broadcast, may set a pattern to be followed at least in part in the occupation of Tokyo itself.

No specific reasons were given in the Tokyo broadcast for the imposition of the curfew and other prohibitions at Tachikawa, where the United States Eighth Army units have taken over a big army air base.

LIST OF INSTRUCTIONS

The broadcast merely said that the American commander at Tachikawa had issued the following instructions to Japanese police in the area:

1—All civilians are prohibited from leaving their homes from sundown to dawn.

2. All members of the police force must wear their regular uniforms and must carry lanterns at night.

3. Sale or other distribution of alcoholic beverages within the district is forbidden until further notice.

4. Those found purchasing or exchanging goods with American soldiers will be sentenced to death or subjected to 20 years' imprisonment.

5-All civilians must respect the occupation authorities.

CAN'T PASS VEHICLES

6 Japanese riding any kind of vehicle must not overtake an automobile carrying occupation troops. Violators are liable to be shot at.

Tokyo said 6,000 American troops already have arrived in the Tachikawa area with more scheduled to move in today. Ultimately 20,000 will be stationed there, the enemy account said.

Vice Admiral Frank J. Fletcher, North Pacific Fleet commander, told newsmen aboard the Panamint that one of his most urgent tasks would be the liberation of an estimated 3,000 Allied prisoners from camps in the rich and comparatively undamaged areas of northern Japan.

RADIO CONTACT

He planned to establish radio contact with the Japanese at Omiato naval base today and ordered the commandant, Vice Admiral Kenjo Ugaki, to send emissaries to the Panamint Friday.

American landings at Ominato and other bases in the north will await arrival from the south of units of the Third Amphibious Force.

Col. Carl V. Cadwell of Arcadia, Calif., revealed that American occupation forces will disarm and disband the Japanese military police, known as the Kimpei-Tai and in some respects worse than the German Gestapo.

A certain percentage of the former members of the military police will be permitted to join the Japanese civil police, but only after being "carefully screened" by American authorities.

Only a few of the Japanese police will be armed, although all will be empowered to arrest Japanese civilians.

MacARTHUR POLICY

A headquarters spokesman said General MacArthur's policy would be to let the Japanese run the country along the lines of the Potsdam declaration with the occupation forces acting as police to see that the Japanese lived up to the rules.

Censorship will be imposed upon both the Japanese press and radio but the spokesman had no idea what censorship principles would be followed except that the Japanese would not be allowed to disseminate "harmful propaganda."

A correspondent pointed out that Japanese have been carrying many stories alleging the Americans have been raping Japanese women and looting property.

The spokesman said the complaints were being investigated and "some have been found exaggerated." He said the American troops had been well behaved.

REVOLT IN KOREA

He declined comment on a Japanese Domei report that Japan had about 15,000 first-line planes left.

Fine Building Is Undamaged

Dominion's Legation in Tokyo Veritable "Oasis" Amidst Ruins

By COL. S. MALONE

TOKYO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Canada's legation in Tokyo stands undamaged, a veritable "oasis" amidst block after block of razed and levelled buildings in the Japanese capital.

In almost a complete circle around it every house has been levelled or burned while the trees around the legation have been scorched and part of the garden wall damaged but there is not a scratch on the building, rated one of the finest in Tokyo.

The Swiss legation staff, due to damage to their own building, is occupying the Canadian structure temporarily and gave a great welcome yesterday to Col. L. V. M. Cosgrave, Canadian military attache at Canberra, Australia, and the writer. They even dug out their last half-bottle of Japanese suntory whisky to drink a toast to our meeting.

They had taken scrupulous care of the building where everything is spotlessly clean, the drapes and rugs of the residence carefully rolled up and the garden lawn clipped. On repeated occasions the Swiss had gone into action against fire bombs to protect the building.

Gen. Hoffmeister May Leave Army

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. Bert M. Hoffmeister, 36, veteran of the Mediterranean and European campaigns who was chosen to head Canada's now-disbanded Pacific force, left by plane for Vancouver yesterday amid reports that he would be discharged from the army there.

Nothing official could be learned here on reports he would retire from the army to go back to his pre-war position as an executive with west coast lumber interests.

Gen. Hoffmeister's first connection with the army was as provisional lieutenant with the Seaforth Highlanders, non-permanent active militia unit, in 1927.

Rationing of Meat In Canada Puzzles Ontario Farmers

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario minister of agriculture, said in a statement today that "there is no objection to the rationing of meat if it if necessary to feed the people of Britain but when a farmer cannot sell his cattle it is hard to convince him that rationing is necessary or that slaughterers other than inspected packers need to be put on a quota."

Just returned from a northern Ontario tour, he said he met farmers at many points who were unable to find markets for their livestock and wondered why rationing was necessary.

Freed Canadians Arrive at Manila

Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin

MANILA, Sept. 6.—(BUP)—The hospital ship Oxfordshire arrived today from Hong Kong with Canadian, United Kingdom, Australian and American civilians liberated from internment camps.

It was understood that Canadians and Australians will debark here along with the Americans, but that the United Kingdom group would remain aboard for a voyage to Colombo.

Of the 330 liberated prisoners aboard, 32 are Canadians, members of the Royal Rifles of Quebec and Winnipeg Grenadiers who participated in the last-ditch stand at Hong Kong in December, 1941.

Almost all of the liberated captives are suffering from malnutrition, beriberi and other ailments induced by malnutrition and exhaustion.

The Canadians were being taken to a special repatriation camp set up under the command of Lt. Col. W. M. Macanulty of Sherbrooke, Que., and it was stated that it was possible they would be returned to Canada within a fortnight.

CALGARY, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The Union Oil of Canada will continue to operate for some time even though the business and physical assets have been purchased by the British American Oil Co., Ltd., stated A. G. Cockrill, Alberta divisional manager of the B. A. company, yesterday.

He said it would take some considerable time to amalgamate the operations of the two companies.

Jap Emperor Made Decision To Surrender

government gave no reply, the Dome official said.

The Imperial Japanese government, Hasegawa said, would willingly have surrendered at that time, with only two important reservations: first, that the emperor must not be deposed, and, second, that there be no occupation of Japan proper.

Later, on July 11, Ambassador Sato met with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov and renewed the proposal for peace, Hasegawa said.

TAKEN TO POTSDAM

Premier Stalin took the idea to Potsdam, he continued, and the result was the three-power declaration.

Three days after the Potsdam declaration, he said, the Japanese prime minister held a press conference at which he evaded questions about it, with the result that the Japanese press, he said, reported on its own initiative that the Japanese government would ignore the declaration.

Stalin took advantage of this, Hasegawa continued, to declare war, saying that the Japanese request for mediation had been nullified.

On Aug. 9, the Domei official said, the Japanese cabinet, which did not yet know of the request for mediation which had been made to Russia, met from 2 o'clock in the afternoon to 9:30 at night.

EXPLANATION GIVEN

A full explanation of the mediation proposal to the cabinet ministers took up much of the meeting time, Hasegawa said. The question whether the Japan could submit to occupation was considered during the rest of the meeting and when the cabinet adjourned it had not been able to reach a decision.

At noon the next day, Aug. 10, there was a conference in which the participants included the emperor, some of the cabinet ministers, the elder statesmen and military leaders.

The last word was given by the Emperor, who told the leaders not to worry about the occupation. This session lasted until 2:30 a.m., Hasegawa said, after which the members of the cabinet met until 4 a.m. At the conclusion of the cabinet meeting, the Domei official said, instructions were sent to the Japanese ministers at Stockholm and Bern, accepting the Potsdam declaration with "the understanding that it would not comprise any infringement of the prerogatives of the Emperor."

While the Japanese government was "keenly waiting" for a reply, Hasegawa said, Domei received news that Secretary of State Byrnes had given a reply to Swiss officials in Washington.

Domei got in touch with the Japanese foreign minister, and the chiefs of the army and navy immediately to give them the news.

After reading the first report of Secretary Byrnes' statement, Hasegawa said, the military leaders declared they would not accept it because it gave the impression the Allied supreme commander actually would rule Japan.

Later in the same day, Aug. 12, the cabinet met again and the general feeling was against acceptance.

On Aug. 13, after meeting again for several hours, the cabinet decided to ask the Emperor to make the decision. The Emperor called a meeting for noon of Aug. 14 of the cabinet heads and the military chiefs, and again there was a storm session.

Again, the Emperor gave the final word.

Paper Suggests Princess Marry Common Briton

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(CP)—The Daily News today devoted an editorial to the prospect of an early marriage for Princess Elizabeth, heir presumptive to the British throne.

With customary breeziness, the News decided the Princess might just as well marry a Briton—even a commoner—as wed a member of a foreign royal family.

"If Elizabeth is considering marrying somebody in her own country, she's got something," said the editorial. "She could go a few grades farther down than an earldom into the ranks of the commoners and make no mistake.

We have no doubt that some mighty good men have come up from the sidewalks of London as they have from the sidewalks of New York."

Another resolution endorsed by the Alliance declared the present provincial government board of industrial relations to be "inadequate," and asked for the establishment of a provincial labor department.

"Labor is sufficiently important to warrant an elected representative of the people administrating its legislation; a board of civil servants is not sufficient," the resolution stated.

OTHER RESOLUTIONS

Other resolutions asked speedier certification of labor unions, and provincial legislation that would permit a single agreement to be negotiated between employees of the industry and all the managements in the province.

Present penalties for infraction of provincial labor legislation are inadequate, another resolution stated.

The alliance unanimously approved the Saskatchewan Trade Union Act, and in a resolution, suggested that the Alberta Conciliation and Arbitration Act, chapter 280 of the revised Statutes of Alberta, should be amended and patterned after the Saskatchewan Act.

RCMP Coast Guard Service Is Mooted

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Capital circles yesterday discussed the possibility of the expansion of the RCMP Marine and Air sections to take in released equipment from the Navy and Air Force and develop a strong coast-guard type of service on both coasts and in the Great Lakes.

This service would provide a good pool of trained men which could be readily mobilized for defensive duties in any future national emergency.

The RCMP's tiny Marine and Air sections provided about 300 trained men for the services at the start of this war and many of their motor launch crews were converted to the important role of air-sea rescue teams. They took their speedy little craft with them.

With the end of the war the famous force is seeking replacements and new recruits.

Edmonton's War Memorial

The Edmonton city council has set up a special committee of ten, headed by the mayor, to go exhaustively into the question of a proper war memorial for this community. This committee is expected to study the problem from all angles and to examine all proposals that have been made.

It is right and fitting that the matter of a war memorial should have careful and deliberate consideration.

But in view of the fact that Edmonton is one of the most run-down cities in Canada, from the physical aspect, there can be little doubt of the form such a memorial should take.

There could not possibly be any finer or more appropriate commemoration of victory or of the sacrifices of our fighting men than a general beautification program that will lift this community from neglect into the position of order and beauty for which it was destined by nature.

Another imposing monument would doubtless provide its own inspiration. But much more completely would the housewife bless the name of victory if victory were responsible for decently paved and dust-free streets?

A memorial building would have its points. But how much more would the blessings of peace be emphasized should peace bring more supervised playgrounds for children and green breathing spaces throughout the whole city and fine rows of trees and flowered parks?

Another cenotaph would appropriately mark our respect and veneration for the men who gave their lives for freedom. But how much more appropriately would the sacrifice of our young men be honored if that sacrifice brought the beautification of the river area and the creation of a landscape masterpiece that would add richness and breadth to the lives of Edmonton people for all time to come?

A city is great only as it contains many homes of happy and contented people. And that is what the men and women of the services labored and fought for—for a sweeter and finer peace.

Edmonton's war memorial, therefore, will only reach maximum appropriateness if it moves appreciably and definitely towards that end.

Pick-Up Trucks

Magnets are being used to pick up scrap metal on highways in Minnesota, not to save the metal, but to save tires. The collections show the device to be both effective and worth while. One magnet gathered up 643 pounds of nails, bolts, screws and other bits of metal on a stretch of 75 miles. In each pound, there is the value of one food objects capable of puncturing from 50 to 100 tires. On one mile of highway the scrap, 15 pounds in weight, was estimated to have a puncture capacity of from 750 to 1,500.

The collecting device is simple. It consists of a long magnet suspended from a truck. As the truck ambles along the roads the magnet picks up the metal fragments and holds them until cleared away. The apparatus is said to be now in commercial production. The figures given indicate that it is likely to soon become standard equipment for highway maintenance everywhere, the more quickly because the worn tires now generally in use are unusually puncturable and new ones are hard to get.

Obviously a contrivance of the kind will work as well on city streets, lanes and parking areas as on highways. Edmonton could do with one of the scrap collectors, and the results should justify the cost of running one of them on regular trips over the well travelled highways in the province.

Fair Words

Premier Higashi-Kuni talked the language of common sense to the members of the Japanese Diet when he told them they must recognize that Japan has been defeated and that its people should fulfill the terms of surrender "manfully, faithfully and with broadmindedness". Boiled down, these terms are that Japs of high and low degree are to do what they are told by the Allied occupation chief. The Premier could hardly have gone farther in telling his countrymen what they have brought upon themselves and what manner of conduct will be for their own good.

Whether Kuni meant all he said is a matter on which the world will have to be allowed some measure of wholder. December of 1941 is still not remote enough for the events to be forgotten, and the moral of those events is that what a Japanese official says is not necessarily what he and his associates have in mind. The language of the Premier is unexceptionable. But we shall have to wait ten or twenty years to know whether it means that the long dream of conquest has been repudiated for good, or only that the aggressor impulse has gone underground until the Allies relax their vigilance.

Speed Returns

Official figures show that the deaths and serious injuries resulting from enemy attacks of all descriptions on Britain between September 1939 to March 1945 were 140,000. The deaths and injuries on the roads, during the same period, were 150,000.

In other words, more people were killed by automobiles than by enemy bombs.

This information is significant in view of the fact that the end of gasoline rationing and the removal, in many places, of wartime speed limits, is going to radically increase the traffic accident toll all over the world. That toll will be particularly great during the period when old cars, with faulty brakes and bad tires, are going to be pressed into service to express the exuberance of a war free population.

The traffic accident toll on this continent has always been appalling. The United States, for example, used to kill nearly 40,000 people a year on its highways, more than 100 a day or something like one every fifteen minutes, day and night all the year through.

The high importance, then, of safety campaigns and safety laws and strict enforcement is obvious. If ever the principle of safety first was important, it is important now.

The resignation of Mr. Alfred Russell, city clerk, will remove one of the veteran employees of the city. Mr. Russell joined the city hall staff thirty-nine years ago and succeeded the late C. E. K. Cox as city clerk ten years since, having served as assistant for some years. In this important and exacting capacity his work has been consistently recognized as outstanding, and the regret expressed by members of the council at his pending retirement will be shared by those who have dealt with former councils. Outside the city hall a wide circle of personal friends will equally regret the loss of so faithful a civic official and the circumstances which make it necessary for him to leave the city where he has lived and which he has served so long.

Herman Trelle won the highest award for wheat at the Chicago International for so many years in succession that he had to be absent from other competitors a chance. In so doing he made western Canada known the world over as a producer of first grade wheat, in the most convincing way that could be done. Farmers in the "bread basket" provinces will remember him alike for the encouragement he gave them and for the added value his winnings brought to prairie farm lands.

Consequences of Potsdam — II

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

An argument advanced for expropriating private industrial property in Germany, by the manner of collecting reparations agreed to in Postdam, is that the "industrialists" were Hitler's chief support, and therefore de-industrialization by expropriation is de-Nazification.

There has been a build-up in all Allied countries of the theory that Nazism won its sole support from Ger- y erratively, and that the only o p o s i t i o n was from the extreme left.

Dorothy Thompson

This is largely propaganda. Nazism was a mass movement. Only a limited number o f industrialists helped Hitler in any way to power. His mass strength came from the lower middle classes proletarianized by inflation and depression, and from unemployed youth. Nazism appealed to the radical dissatisfactions of the masses and to nationalism. Industrialists who supported it originally did so because they stupidly thought they could control and modify it.

The active resistance to Nazism inside Germany, which culminated in a direct attempt to overturn the regime in July, 1944, comprised persons from Conservative ranks through all shades of democratic German opinion.

Himmler hanged hundreds of active conspirators between January and October, 1944. With few exceptions they were not left-wing radicals but civilized persons interested in the restoration of order and law, some of them aristocrats with names as old as German history, and all of them with a deep moral or religious sense of personal responsibility.

The liaison man of the movement on whose head Himmler placed a reward of 1,000,000 marks, Karl Goerdeler, was a vehement anti-Nazi from before Hitler revolution until the moment when he swung from the gallows. He wrote his political views in a testament deposited abroad, and Wendell Willkie (but not the daily worker) would have approved it.

In Great Britain, serious work has been done among German workers of war, sorting them into "Nazi", "anti-Nazi", and "reformable". This has not entailed wonderful questionnaires, but probings covering months of work with individuals and small groups.

The researches revealed interesting things. Most of the prisoners in the earlier days of the war were Nazi. These, however, had to be classified into two groups: the unthinking, who merely parroted the slogans, and the philosophically convinced. The arguments of the latter followed a line which has had support in German mentality since Nietzsche and is thoroughly explored and expressed in Spengler. This attitude could be summarized as follows:

"Western so-called 'Christian' democratic civilization is moribund. It is technologically advanced but spiritually decadent, having lost the primitive will to live of the barbaric but strong and young peoples. Whatever happens, the Western democracies will not be victors. If Germany loses, only Russia will win. We and Russia, though bitter enemies, represent the only movements and states which have survival value. Europe can be unified and can only be unified by force; terror is the weapon of all revolutions and we are making the European revolution. But if we fail, Europe will nevertheless be unified by force. Our mission will descend on the Russians."

These Nazis when asked in which direction they would orient themselves, in case of defeat, answered almost without exception: To the Russians.

The minority of clearly conscious anti-Nazis, almost without exception, said, "We hate Nazism because it is a reign of terror destroying the values of German and European civilization. We want the restoration of justice and law, the end of persecutions, and the revival of civilization in a free united states of Europe."

In Italy, the radical Communists in the revolutionary underground movement, led by Ruggiero Grieco —as contrasted with the open politicals, and exponents of the popular front, led by Togliatti, with wings of the same party—are recruiting former Fascists to the ranks. All they must do is repent, be converted, and prepare to become instruments for the leftist revolution. The alternative is to be "liquidated". The radical Fascists, like the radical Communists, have had training in the "technique of the coup d'etat," and the organization of terror; they are far more mentally conditioned for a switch to some leftist revolutionism than to democracy.

Thus, if we take into consideration all the attitude expressed by Nazi prisoners of war, the composition of the internal German anti-Nazi movement, and the Italian, finally, there is reason for believing that it will be Nazis who will disappear into communist ranks in the months ahead of the next—and this time they think successful — European revolution.

Everything Potsdam announced for defeated Germany will contribute to this development. The national sentiments inflamed by hunting away from the Reich a quarter of the arable land in eastern territories; Germans for centuries will see hope for reunion only in a Sovietized Reich. De-industrialization will give the coup de grace to the middle classes of the middle ages. Economic chaos and misery will inflame the working masses. And whoever is a Nazis after a few days to Canossa, will probably recognize that they have an occupational interest in the next revolution. After all, conspiracy has been their job!

He Read the Wrong Stuff

By B. M.

Among Hitler's personal effects was discovered a copy of The New Yorker published in 1937. The editors of the magazine believe that it may have been something to do with Hitler's dream of conquering the world, for The New Yorker of 1937 would indicate a foreign mind that the American people were soft, decadent and ripe for picking. In the same issue read by Hitler an organization called World Peaceways was running large, flamboyant advertisements declaring that Americans did not want war, would not tolerate war and hence would not go to war. It also contained the usual gossipy tidbits about habitues of the richer classes, and the incidental news that one American millionaire was about to install a golden keel on his yacht. No wonder Hitler thought the Americans would be easy picking.

Things have not changed much since 1937. If an ignorant foreigner like Hitler were to read the advertising in the magazines and magazines today he would conclude not only that this continent was quite mad but that with a particularly virulent and disagreeable form of lunacy.

To begin with, it is clear from these exhibits that all North American civilization revolves around two ears in every garage (with a private driver for each) and that the American dream is life, liberty and the pursuit of new-fangled bath tubs:

The golden age
Is only coming
To those who own
The better plumbing.

American women, it appears, devote most of their working hours to the search for a mate, but they can never be permitted they use a certain brand of soap, and the old women's homes of the nation are crowded with wretched spinsters who never discovered this particular article. Moreover, no American girl ever marries and raises children unless she chooses the right perfume. Odor is the dominant fact of American civilization:

Girls can only Marry well
If they exude
The proper smell.

Pictorial art in America is largely confined to the female face, which must never be permitted to appear in public in its natural state. Women's solemn duty is to be beautiful at any cost of labor and money. The labor devoted to this high purpose cannot be calculated, but the money runs to about $2 billion a year, which is used to give all women the same misery:

Girls who take their Duty serious
Will paint their eyes
To look mysterious.

Even a greater labor, and all the resources of the corset industry, are devoted to the development of the perfect anatomy, which no patriotic woman would be without:

The patriot her
Country serves
If she develops
Handsome curves.

But the real backbone of America's morale, the secret of its fighting spirit, is to be found in the dressmaking industry, for it is only in the right kind of clothes that womanhood inspires men to noble deeds, and the more you wear at one time the more rapid her spiritual development in the search for the true meaning of life:

The answer to life's
Sternest riddles
Are bathing suits
That skim the middles.

The American man is an easy-going creature, a mere child at heart, incapable of any serious undertaking. He can be captured by perfume (the right brand), but he can only be held through his appetite for food. Any girl who finds her husband growing cold can be sure that her cooking has gone off, and if he elopes with a waitress he can be brought to heel immediately with a good batch of cookies or an apple pie. No siren can compete with a lamb chop, properly prepared:

To tame strong men
It only takes
A gal who can bake
Toothsome cakes.

At the age of fifty American men retire on a life insurance endowment and then they go fishing. For some reason they all go fishing, as you can tell in any magazine. Even those who hate fishing always spend their lives at it after they retire and make a good pretence of enjoying themselves. It is evidently part of the law in America. If you read in a periodical that a man you know is going to end your life waist-deep in a foaming stream, but at the end of the day you will always a bottle of good Bourbon, aged in oak, a pair of slippers and a big setter dog. You may not like whisky and prefer a cat, but you can't have everything, even in America.

But if you want to understand the highest aspects of American civilization you must read the movie magazines, which record the daily adulteries, divorces, gods and idols picture them leaning listlessly, like the later Romans, over their banquet tables, exhibiting the, American spirit:

Movie stars dine
At the Ritz.
All are gorgeous
And half-wits.

Yes, you can understand Hitler's mistake. He read the wrong stuff.

End of Lend Lease

By B. T. RICHARDSON

WASHINGTON.—President Truman's abrupt termination of Lend-Lease exports will abolish at least 5,000,000 American jobs at home and reduce the standard of living in western Europe during the coming winter, according to Washington sources. The president's action produced sharp reactions in the embassies of countries which have been receiving Lend-Lease. The news fell like a thunderbolt because plans for regaining normal trade relations by which food and other supplies could be purchased in United States were incomplete. Since Canada is the only major allied country which refused to accept Lend-Lease, no effect on Canada was involved except indirectly when Canada decided to terminate its own mutual aid scheme.

In the case of Great Britain, ten per cent of Lend-Lease shipments have been food, and this has meant a difference between subsistence and a slightly higher margin in the British diet. In varying degree, the same is true of every other western European country.

Until the White House suddenly announced the immediate termination of Lend-Lease, steps to wind up the program which has placed $41 billion worth of U.S. supplies in the hands of allied countries which were unable to pay for them, had been expected to allow transition to ordinary commercial trading on a basis of cash and credit. During the Senate debate in April when Lend-Lease was extended for one year, the phrase constantly used was "orderly liquidation."

The reasons why President Truman precipitately cancelled Lend-Lease have not been revealed, but they are understood to involve two factors. First, political pressure to put an end to Lend-Lease as soon as the war ended has been heavy and Lend-Lease has been regarded purely as an instrument of war for the defence of United States. Secondly, some Washington circles believe cancellation of Lend-Lease will improve American bargaining position in current trade negotiations with Great Britain, France and other countries. The news that France has been cut off from Lend-Lease undoubtedly waited for Gen. Charles de Gaulle on his arrival for a formal visit to Washington.

Scarcely any mention appeared in U.S. newspapers immediately of the fact that Lend-Lease production is the difference between full employment in the United States and unemployment for 5,000,000 workers. Lend-Lease exports have averaged $10 billion annually, and this is the target at which the Truman administration is aiming in export, and neighbouring countries.

Where Credit Is Due

Editor, Bulletin: I have been reading in the various newspapers items regarding Canada's returned soldiers, their rights, priorities on clothes, dwellings, work, etc. But what about the ones that were unfit for military service, and worked in war plants for five years? In my case crippled since childhood, yet able to work in plants, yet unable to enlist in the Armed Forces, giving the best of my ability to the war effort.

Am I considered a deserter, an outcast for not having served overseas? How about those who have put in one month's training in camps, yet are considered veterans. Are they any better than I? Why should they be allowed priority over me in work or other privileges?

I am not one to complain, but I also have a wife and child to care for, the same as these so-called veterans. Being a cripple it was always a problem to secure employment before, let alone these added barriers.

There must be many who are in the same position as myself. Let's have some recognition. We are also veterans. We did our share towards the cause to the best of our ability. Let's have credit for it.

Is Spanking on Decline?

Editor, Bulletin: In a recent article this interesting question was discussed; and from observation it would be satisfied that spanking is the popular method of correcting children.

There is something to be said in favor of this method. It is often a speedy deterrent—and with certain types the only effective corrective. The following remarks by Myrtle Meyer Eldred—who is an authority upon matters pertaining to children—are worthy of notice.

Concerning spanking Mrs. Eldred writes, "When a mother admits that she has to spank her child at least once a day, it is certain she considers her child stupid—whether she will admit it or not. What she is really saying is that her child cannot learn by any other method but pain. The kind of treatment reserved for low mentalities and animals.

Parents who start out on the premise that children must be spanked will find plenty of opportunity to carry out this plan—and in time children will react to no other method of discipline."

Many people will disagree with Mrs. Eldred on the grounds that they have found spanking the only effective remedy for misbehaviour, moreover they interpret the Biblical admonition—"Spare the rod and spoil the child"—as further proof. It is doubtful if "spare the rod" can be taken literally, the underlying meaning is that children must have correction and discipline.

In common with the adult there is no such thing as the perfect child, Heredity and environment are largely responsible for what we are.

Parents should realize that regularity regarding sleep, rest, meals —plain wholesome food without too much candy, or rich pastry and cake, then direction, telling the child what to do, instead of don't do this or that. Discipline and training include all these things and result in tractable easy-to-manage children.

The very young child should not be spanked, or cuffed indiscriminately since management is all that is required.

As an example a boy of 3 is taken to visit a home in which there are many toys and amusements. The intelligent mother anticipates trouble when they must leave for home.

Tactfully she is prepared to deal with this by taking the boy outside and showing him the flowers or a doggie, then telling him a little story the boy is taken home without undue fuss. This method is known as management and is particularly effective with very young children.

It would be better for society in general if those contemplating marriage could be induced to attend classes where the rudiments of married life—including bringing up children—could be fully and freely discussed. What is in England such a movement is now being inaugurated.

A noted author considers "Adult Adolescence" one of society's most serious problems. The adult with the menial and moral development of children. These are the men and women who rush into marriage without a proper sense of responsibility. Unable to cope with eventualities they want life handed out to them on a platter. Pleasure-seeking is their highest ambition. These are the men and women who make delinquent children.

Never has confusion the all important question of marriage and bringing up children requires the study of it. E. S.

Reconstruction Loan

Editor, Bulletin: Why can't our "grateful government" float a reconstruction loan? The money raised should be at least five billion dollars, to be used for veterans' housing projects across the country.

Why should we have to wait for some quick-thinking financier, who will come to power in Canada, to start our Canadian veterans' housing projects?

The veterans have given their best in this war. Why can't the government and people of Canada show their appreciation and build Canadian houses with Canadian money for Canadian veterans, and by Canadians.

Youth Training

Editor, Bulletin: In a recent letter to your paper the writer suggested that old warships be used as training ships for boys who would, ordinarily, be placed in institutions. This seems an excellent idea, especially if the men in charge of the boys were ex-naval men who would train them on lines of naval discipline.

If this scheme were put into effect, not only would it ease the present critical condition of the building trade, but would provide jobs for ex-servicemen and also a training for boys who have had a bad start in life.

They Also Served

Editor, Bulletin: What about the boys who gave their services for $1.30 a day with no thought of compensation? Also, what of the men and women who, because of their age or length of service with firms that were listed as non-essential but nevertheless necessary, made no fabulous sums as a result of the war.

My husband has been with the same firm for over 20 years, but since the beginning of the war his "salary" actually has increased by a week, that is part cost of living bonus—about $2 per week would not consider the total sum of his earnings as a pay.

Let war workers take their chances with the rest of the workers. If any guarantees are to be given for the future, let it be for the boys who counted not the pack ets years in dollars and cents but in loyalty and devotion to duty as well as their descendents.

Mussolini at Last Is On His Own; He Attacks Greece

Acts Despite Hitler's Objections—Orders Big Push For Egypt

AUG. 10-OCT. 31, 1940

In the autumn months of 1940 Mussolini's mood was mellower and more exalted than it had been for long, the diary of Count Ciano, his son-in-law, reveals.

A grandiose campaign was ordered in Egypt over the opposition of all the commanders, but, more gratifying to ego, Mussolini at last had decided to strike out on his own, to attack Greece in spite of Hitler's objections. For once, the Fuehrer was to read about an Axis blow in his morning newspapers. An empire was in the building.

German occupation of Romania was the spark that touched off Mussolini's decision. Six weeks earlier the Axis, or so Mussolini had been led to believe, had solved the Balkan crisis by awarding Transylvania to Hungary and guaranteeing what was left to Romania against attack by the Russians. Its immediate result was that the Romanian foreign minister fainted when he saw the arbitrary boundary that the Axis drew. Ciano wrote:

Ciano

AUG. 10—"I talked with Il Duce about the difficulties that have arisen on the Greek-Albanian frontier. I don't wish to dramatize the situation, but the Greek attitude is very disloyal. Il Duce has thought of forceful action, because he has had accounts to settle ever since 1923 [when Mussolini sent the Italian fleet to bombard the island of Corfu and collect a 50,000,000-lira indemnity after an Italian representative was murdered, allegedly by the Greeks]."

Plans Are Made To Strike Greece

AUG. 12—"Il Duce outlines the political and military plans against Greece. If Leucadia and Corfu (Greek islands in the Ionian Sea) are yielded, we shall ask for nothing more. If there is resistance, we will go the limit. Jocomini and Visconnt Prasca (military governor and commander in Albania) believe it possible, and easy if the action is undertaken at once.

"A new and violent outburst by Mussolini against the middle class: 'After the war is over I will attack the cowardly and despicable middle class. We must destroy it physically, saving perhaps 20 per cent.'"

AUG. 15—"A Greek vessel has been sunk by a submarine of unidentified nationality. . . . I consider the intemperance of De Vecchi (Italian commander in the Dodecanese Islands) is at the bottom of it."

RIBBENTROP served notice on the Italians Aug. 17 that action in Greece would not be welcomed in Berlin, and orders postponing any move were given by Mussolini five days later. But the plans went ahead, coupled with Il Duce's dreams of smashing the British in Africa, and with Hitler's insistence that stability be insured in the Balkans.

AUG. 20—"Germany wants at all costs to avoid a Balkan crisis (between Hungary and Romania, over Transylvania). . . . Von Ribbentrop is thinking of calling the two ministers of foreign affairs to Vienna and giving them friendly advice of the Axis. . . . All this will be accompanied, naturally, by a threat."

AUG. 27—"The meeting at Vienna is fixed for tomorrow. . . . From what Von Ribbentrop (telephones, the Fuehrer believes the Romanians should surrender about 15,400 square miles to Hungary, which has asked for 23,000. Mussolini has no precise ideas on the subject. . . . The attack (on Egypt) is to begin Sept. 6."

AUG. 28—"Hitler . . . speaks little of the Magyar-Romanian question. . . . The only concern of his is that peace be preserved, so Romanian oil will continue to flow into his tanks."

Hungary Wins Romania Loses

AUG. 29—"Ribbentrop and I decide to solve the problem through arbitration. If we should begin a discussion, we should never complete it. . . . The Hungarians accept on this afternoon. The Romanians make us wait for their answer. . . . In the meantime Ribbentrop and I trace the new frontier and dictate the terms. . . . In Vienna they are eating little and badly."

AUG. 30—"Ceremony of the signature. The Hungarians can't contain themselves for joy when they see the map. Then we heard a loud thump. It was Manoilescu (Romanian foreign minister), who fainted on the table. Doctors, massages, camphorated oil. He revives, but shows the blow."

SEPT. 7—"Il Duce . . . has taken up again (with the Council of Ministers) the question of our attack on Egypt. It was to have occurred today, but Gen. Graziani has asked that it be postponed a month."

SEPT. 9—"The attack against Egypt has encountered a new delay. . . . Never has a military operation been undertaken so much against the will of the commanders."

SEPT. 14—"The attack on Egypt has begun (Sept. 12 . . . . For the time being, the British are withdrawing without fighting. . . . Il Duce considers the arrival at Mersa Matruh a great victory."

SEPT. 16—"Mussolini is nervous because of the slow progress in Egypt. . . . The fact is that no fighting has yet begun."

Ribbentrop Brings Pact With Japan

Ribbentrop arrived in Rome Sept. 19.

SEPT. 19—"He is in good humor and glad of the welcome given him by the 'police applauding squad,' which was well mobilized by the police commissioner. . . . In his car, Von Ribbentrop speaks at once of the surprise he carries in his portfolio, a military alliance with Japan. . . . The Russian dream has vanished with the guarantee to Romania. He thinks that such a move will have its advantages against Russia and against America, which will not dare to move under threat of the Japanese fleet."

SEPT. 24—"During the night Mackensen (German ambassador) telephoned. De Gaulle appeared at Dakar (French West Africa) with some British vessels and asked that the French surrender. The governor resisted and Petain (head of the Vichy French government) asked the armistice commission for authority to dispatch some French vessels, including the Strasbourg (battleship) in the Atlantic. The German rejected. So did I."

SEPT. 27—"The pact is signed (in Berlin). But the atmosphere is cooler. . . . Even the street crowd . . . was evidently prearranged.

"Every night the citizens spend four or five hours in the cellars (because of RAF air raids). There is lack of sleep, promiscuity among men and women, cold. The number of people with headcolds is incredible."

OCT. 3—"Brisco, a man who thoroughly understands aviation, has painted the true picture of our air forces in North Africa. Our supply organization is bad, and fighter planes are lacking. The British are inferior numerically, but cause us plenty of trouble."

Hitler Speaks Frankly At Brenner Pass

OCT. 4—"Rarely have I seen Il Duce in such good humor as at the Brenner Pass today. The conversations (with Hitler) were the most interesting that have occurred so far. Hitler put at least some of his cards on the table. . . . These are my general impressions:

1—There is no longer any talk of invading England.

2—There is hope of bringing France into the anti-British coalition.

3—Greater importance is given to the Mediterranean sector, something that is good for us. Hitler was energetic and extremely anti-Bolshevist."

OCT. 12—"The return of Il Duce. He is vexed very much at Graziani. . . . But he is above all indignant at the German occupation of Romania (the movement, allegedly to protect Romanian oil wells from British sabotage, was reported Oct. 11).

"'Hitler always confronts me with an accomplished fact. This time I will pay him in his own coin. He will learn from the newspapers that I have occupied Greece.' If the enemy resolved to act immediately, I believe the action will be useful and easy."

OCT. 14—Mussolini . . . fixes the date (of the attack on Greece) for Oct. 26."

OCT. 17—"Marshal Badoglio (chief of the general staff) speaks ominously about our action in Greece. The three heads of a general staff have pronounced themselves against it. The present forces are insufficient and the navy does not feel it can carry out a landing at Preveza (in western Greece) because the water is too shallow. . . . I insist that the moment is good from a political point of view. Greece is isolated. Turkey will not move. Neither will Yugoslavia. If the Bulgarians enter the war, it will be on our side."

Oct. 28 Is Set To Attack Greece

OCT. 22—Mussolini has prepared a letter to Hitler. He alludes to our imminent action in Greece, but does not make clear either the means or the date, because he fears once again an order to halt. Many indications lead us to believe they are not enthusiastic in Berlin about our going to Athens. The date fixed now is Oct. 28.

"I begin to draw up the ultimatum which Grazzi (minister to Greece) will deliver to his colleague (Greek premier) at 2 a.m., Oct. 28. Naturally, it is a document that allows no way out for Greece."

OCT. 24—"Von Ribbentrop telephones from a little railway station in France. He reports on a conference with Franco and with Petain and is on the whole optimistic. . . . He says the program of collaboration is moving toward concrete results."

OCT. 25—"With Il Duce I settle our diplomatic moves with reference to Greece. He also approves the idea of a conference on his part with the Soviet ambassador immediately after the attack. . . . Von Mackensen's meantime communicated details of Hitler's conferences with the French and Spaniards, and announces the terms of a secret tripartite protocol with Spain.

This may be a reference to the anti-Comintern pact, of which Ciano spoke on Feb. 21, 1939: "Franco has decided to adhere to the anti-Comintern pact, communicating his decision to our (German and Italian) ambassadors, even though it will be ratified until final victory. . . . It gives us the egg today and the chicken tomorrow."

"Von Ribbentrop . . . proposes a conference to take place at Florence, Oct. 28, between Hitler and Mussolini. This trip by the Fuehrer soon after his meeting with Petain is not pleasing to me. I should not like to have him bring us a cup of hemlock with respect to our claims against France."

Greek Ultimatum Surprises Diplomats

OCT. 27—Incidents in Albania are numerous. Action is expected at any moment. Yet the four diplomats, German, Japanese, Spanish and Hungarian, to whom I gave the text of the ultimatum to Greece, were surprised considerably."

OCT. 28—"We attack in Albania (this was the start of the war on Greece) and carry on a conference (with Hitler) at Florence. In both places things have gone well. In spite of the poor weather, the troops are moving fast, even if air support is lacking. The conference in Florence . . . proves that German support has not failed us . . . Il Duce is in very good humor."

OCT. 29—"The weather is bad, but the advance continues. . . . No one makes a move to defend the Greeks. It is a question now of speed. We must act quickly. I leave during the night for Tirana (Albanian capital)."

Reduced Sentences Asked for Sailors In VE-Day Riots

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Reduction of sentences imposed on several sailors for their part in Halifax VE-Day riots was requested yesterday in a letter sent to Justice Minister St. Laurent by the Civil Liberties Association of Toronto.

The letter said that while the association recognized the sentences were within the law and appeals had been refused for that reason, it did not believe they were "within the spirit of our Canadian law." It added that they might be considered "retributive rather than just."

Britain to Use Military Powers For Malaya Rule

SINGAPORE, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Malaya will be governed by British military force which will prepare the way for the "early return of civil government," the British government said last night as Indian 5th Division troops began the reoccupation of Singapore.

Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten, commander in Southeast Asia, will assume "full powers and responsibilities over all persons and property in the Malayan, including the four northern states which the Japanese ceded to Siam," the announcement said.

Japanese-proclaimed laws will be cancelled immediately and laws which were in force before the occupation will go into effect.

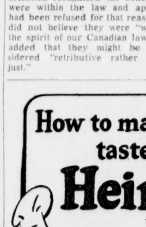

Letter Carriers' National Council Opens Meeting

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 6.—(CP)—The national executive council of the Federated Association of Letter Carriers, representing approximately 2,500 postmen in the Dominion, opened its session here yesterday to discuss salaries, working conditions, service improvement and the rehabilitation of letter carrier service veterans.

George R. Brown of Fort William, Ont., is president while other officers from Western Canada are: Fred C. Harrys, Vancouver, B.C., second vice-president; A. H. Chettleborough, Edmonton, and Rowland H. Magee, Vancouver, regional vice-presidents.

Fantastic Japanese Cruelties Are Bared by Freed Prisoners

By MILTON G. KELLY

CALCUTTA, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Survivors of the sunken United States cruiser Houston and members of the 131st (Texas National Guard) Field Artillery Regiment liberated from Japanese prison camps in Burma told horrifying stories Tuesday of the death of 20,000 of 56,000 Allied prisoners of starvation, disease and fantastic cruelties.

The prisoners said it had been fully authenticated that 7,000 convalescent Allied prisoners in Thailand were taken by the Japanese on a purported trip to a rest camp, but in the stealth march" of almost 140 miles more than 1,500 died.

All said they were given "stinking, rotten food most of the time." Some men ate cats, dogs and snakes.

PRISONERS FED SICK

Others told how the diet of sick prisoners was reduced because "food was for the fit," but the prisoners secretly fed the sick.

The men said they were forced to perform heavy labor and were beaten with gun butts, sticks and fists if their failing strength slowed their pace or they failed to speed up when their guards wanted to get through early.

"Our morale never got low," said Lieut. R. E. Stensland of Salinas, Calif.

"Many of the men developed tropical ulcers, especially on the legs, from malnutrition. It was necessary to hold down the patient while the doctor cut away the infected flesh, sometimes to the bone. It was tough, but it saved lives. In the rainy season the men died like flies of malnutrition, dysentry and other diseases.

"Our guards were Koreans, ignorant, cruel men, who, if you failed to salute them, required us to stand at attention while they slapped us. I was kicked by them.

"For minor infractions we were required to stand for hours in the sun without a hat. The most inhuman punishment I saw was when a Dutch soldier was forced to kneel with a stick in the bend of his knees, then squat far back on his heels. If he eased his position he was beaten until he resumed the posture. When he fainted he was kicked and water poured on him and he was compelled to resume the position. This treatment continued for seven hours."

Cattle Marketings Across Dominion Said on Increase

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Agriculture department officials said yesterday reports of increased cattle marketings are pouring in from all parts of Canada and added that if Canadian farmers continue to market their cattle early there need be no repetition of last fall's packing plant congestion.

In the week ended Aug. 23, approximately 37,000 cattle were slaughtered in inspected packing plants, an increase of 10,000 head in a single week. Preliminary reports indicate that last week's kill may exceed the 40,000-mark, a record achieved only once in the 1944 season.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean
SPORTS EDITOR

THE projected visit of the Saskatoon Pats for a series at Kingsway Park with Army and Navy Pats and which was to commence on Saturday, will likely be postponed and possibly cancelled, according to Clare Hollingsworth, manager of the Edmonton fastball team.

Three of the Army and Navy girls are in Saskatoon with Walk-Rites, Alberta champions, who began a best-of-seven playoff with Regina for the Western Canada title on Wednesday night and they will not be returning until Sunday at the earliest.

In the event of any one game being rained out though, the championship series in Saskatoon will revert to a best-of-five proposition, according to information given the Pats' manager last night by Wilfrid Bruce, president of the Western Canada Fastball Association.

Janet Anderson, Pats' chucker, who pitched for Walk-Rites Wednesday, held the Regina club to six hits. She won against St. Boniface the previous night and also worked half of the exhibition game on Labor Day.

Val Gould, Walk-Rites regular pitcher, arrived in Saskatoon last night on her way home from Montreal and no doubt will be in tonight's game. Lucella MacLean scored the lone Edmonton run yesterday, reaching first on a single and negotiating the rest of the journey on errors.

LOOKS LIKE DETROIT

WASHINGTON has only 22 games left and all of them must be played before Sept. 23, when the Senators wind up their schedule a full week ahead of the rest of the league. Detroit's lead of 2½ games accordingly places the Tigers in a very comfortable position.

St. Louis Browns, in third place only four games away, match Detroit with 25 contests in the future book. New York Yankees have 26 remaining and Cleveland has 28, but both have been slipping in the last few days.

Adding to the worries of the pursuers, the Tigers have uncovered newly-found home run power which has accounted for a total of seven four-ply swats during the last five sessions. Yanks' Joe Page hurled his first complete game of the year in beating Detroit 3-1 yesterday.

CHUCK HAS GOOD PITCHING

WITH Tommy Brant, Morie Hawkey, Doug Darrah and Lefty Thomas all available for the Arrow-Dodger combination, Chuck Henderson shouldn't have much to worry about so far as the pitching department is concerned, in today's and the Saturday game with the Yanks.

Emil Sporri, 43-year-old "King of the Bullringers," was presented with a pair of silver fox furs at Hastings Park yesterday for piloting home most winners during the 42-day racing season in Vancouver.

Sporri, who acquired his royal moniker because of his skill on half-mile tracks, had 48 winners in 253 rides this season. And in 14 year, of racing at Victoria and Vancouver he has had 2,815 mounts and 546 winners.

27 Matches Played

No Upsets on Opening Day City Tennis Tournament

The 1945 city tennis tournament got rolling Wednesday with a total of 27 matches being played in the men's open singles, ladies' open singles, Mitchell cup and Bulletin cup competitions at Garneau, Civil Service and Glenora courts.

The tourney, which drew a total of 76 entrants, continues this evening at all three courts and every day until the champions are crowned. All courts are open to the public.

There were no major upsets on the opening day, but the draws were featured by some hard-fought matches. S. Toshach scored a mild upset, however, when she ousted Sophie Mighall, Civil Service racquet swinger, in a close struggle 6-3, 10-8 at Glenora.

One of the most hard-fought matches of the day was in the men's open when Jerry Docherty and Howard Hall, Docherty and Hall played one of the longest games of the evening before Docherty finally won out in the deciding set 7-5. George took the first set 6-3, but Hall came back to take the second 6-4.

Cards Drop Behind In Tight Race

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Effective pitching by Ray Prim and Claude Passeau backed up by a 20-hit attack enabled Chicago Cubs to tighten their hold on the National League lead Wednesday with a double victory over New York Giants 5-2 and 10-2, before 25,769 fans.

Prim, 30-year-old Arkansan, allowed five hits in the 5-2 opener, in recording his 11th triumph. All were singles except Ernie Lombardi's 19th homer with one man on in the fifth frame.

Adrain Zabala, the first of four Giant tossers, was charged with the loss.

The Bruins chased Jack Brewer in the fifth inning of the nightcap. Passeau scattered nine Giant hits over the route in earning his 15th victory and first over New York.

New York	000 020 000—2 5 2
Chicago	000 410 00x—5 10 0

Errors—Gill, Emmerich, Adams and Fischer and Lombardi; Prim and Rice.

Second game:

Police Take Tug-of-War

Edmonton Team Is Winner NWAC Track and Field

The team representing North West Air Command Headquarters, Royal Canadian Air Force, Edmonton, won the track and field championship of North West Air Command in the track and field meeting held Wednesday afternoon at the RCAF base on Kingsway Avenue.

The Edmonton team finished in first place with 102 points, 25 over the RCAF station team from Watson Lake, which had 77 points. Whitehorse was fifth with 27 and Dawson Creek trailed the field with 8 points. Owing to unfavorable weather conditions it was impossible for the team from the RCAF Station at Fort Nelson to make the trip to Edmonton for the meet.

The program got underway at 1.30 with a parade of athletes past the saluting base arranged by SL Jack Truscott, special services officer and his NWAC committee. The salute was taken by Air Vice-Marshal T. A. Lawrence, CB, air officer commanding North West Air Command.

The heavyweights from the City Police Force under the coaching of Tiny Little, pulled off the honors in the tug-of-war event defeating the laddies from the Fire Department in the finals. In preliminary pulls the police defeated the navy while the fire department took care of the team from North West Air Command.

Two open events resulted in dead heats. One of the members of the Grande Prairie RCAF team was injured in an earlier event, his place in the relay was taken by Edith Skitch who made such an outstanding showing in the track and field meet held at Clarke Stadium on Monday.

The hundreds of youngsters taking part in the afternoon's program were treated to ice cream and pop by the RCAF, and at the completion of the day's sports, AVM Lawrence presented the trophies and prizes.

The members of the winning team from North West Air Command Headquarters, RCAF, Edmonton were, F/S E. J. Murray, Sgt. Ed. Malloy, LAC H. Connelly, LAC D. Kaplin, LAC Lucky Link, LAC W. L. Lavery.

During the afternoon the spectators were entertained with band music rendered by the band from No. 3 Service Flying Training School, Calgary, making their farewell appearance in Edmonton prior to retirement from the RCAF.

Following are the results of the open events:

Junior Benefit Game on Sunday At Renfrew Park

Renfrew Park baseball fans will have a chance to see the junior leaguers in action on Sunday afternoon when a team of all-stars will meet the Edmonton Junior Baseball League champion Arrows in a benefit game for junior ball commencing at 3 o'clock.

A trophy, donated by Weber Brothers, for the junior championship, will be presented at the game to the Arrows.

Officials of the junior circuit have been attempting to arrange a provincial playoff and up to last night expected the series with Rosedale to go through. But the Rosedale club has been unable to make arrangements to come here on Sunday to play the Arrows. A home and home series was originally planned with the Arrows traveling south on the Labor Day week-end and then the Rosedale nine making the return trip the following week-end, but Rosedale was unable to play an outside team last Sunday and now have another game scheduled for this coming Sunday.

Baseball School Draws More Boys

Number of youths attending the boys' baseball school being held at Clarke stadium all this week by the U.S. Army and officials of the Edmonton Junior Baseball League rose to 160 yesterday, second day of the affair.

Manuel Dorsky, U.S. Yank outfielder was added to the instructing staff yesterday and the others who were on hand for the opening day were also out.

The boys were shown many important baseball tricks including sliding, which was one of the features Wednesday. The school continues today.

Morton Workout

Ken McAuley's Mortons girls' fastball club will hold a workout tonight at Victoria High school diamond, starting at 7 o'clock. All members of the team are urged to attend.

Rumored Senior Hockey Likely to Return Here

By CECIL GOLDSTICK

WITH the war now over in both Europe and the Pacific, Edmonton sports followers are looking for the resumption of senior hockey in this city and the boulevards are buzzing with rumors that their hopes are going to be realized.

It seems almost a certainty too that Edmonton will be represented at the meeting this week-end in Calgary, where the formation of the proposed western Canada senior hockey circuit will be discussed.

Ira Stuart, when queried yesterday, said he still had nothing to report, but it's a sure bet he and his two former associates, L. A. (Lefty) Gray and "Laddie" Muckleston will not pass up any reasonable chance to revive the senior game in Edmonton.

Charles S. Wilson, managing director of the Edmonton Exhibition Association, said last night that the work will get underway at the Arena shortly and the ice will be in around the 20th of September, but would not comment on the senior situation.

The Canadian Athletic Club has the first week-booked for a hockey school which gets underway on the 24th.

NO SENIOR SINCE 1940-41

Due to the war situation Edmonton dropped away from senior hockey in 1941 when the Arena was taken over by the Dominion government. Last year the Arena housed the juniors, an inter-service and an intermediate league. Organizing a civilian senior club was out of the question.

Calgary was fortunate in holding onto its rink during the war years, and the fans in that city were treated to a fast brand of hockey by strong inter-service teams.

Calgary, Saskatoon and Regina are eager to have Edmonton included in a four-club intercity loop. Now that hostilities are over, the expectation is that many hockey players being discharged from the forces in the near future should relieve the player situation.

FLYERS LAST SENIOR CLUB

The last senior hockey seen at the Arena was in 1940-41 when a loop called the Alberta Senior Hockey League operated with clubs from Calgary, Turner Valley, Lethbridge and Edmonton Flyers. That year we was an inter-provincial tackle to the set-up, with three clubs from B.C., Trail, Nelson and Kimberley played home and away games with the Alberta teams in an interlocking schedule.

Behind the local entry that year, Stuart "Lefty" Gray and "Laddie" Muckleston were. The franchise for senior hockey in Edmonton will belongs to them.

All three were largely responsible for keeping senior hockey alive in Edmonton for a number of years. Both Gray and Muckleston were the men behind the old Superiors who won the provincial title several times, reaching the western final once, and they toured Europe in 1932-33.

Grove, a former senior star with the Imperial, Dominion and Superiors, coached three Edmonton junior clubs, including the EAC team which won the Memorial cup final in 1939, losing out to Oshawa Generals.

Canadian Team To Play Yanks 2-Game Series

Canadians versus Yanks will be tonight's senior baseball attraction at Renfrew Park with 8.15 the starting time.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for a series between a team composed of Arrows and Dodgers and the city champion Yanks, the first game to be played tonight and the second on Saturday.

Chuck Henderson, named to manage the Arrow-Dodger nine announced last night the tentative roster of Canadians as follows:

Catchers—Ken Samis (Arrows), Ken McAuley (Dodgers); pitchers —Tommy Brant (Dodgers), Morie Hawkey (Arrows), Doug Darrah (Arrows), Elmer Thomas (Arrows); infielders—Ralph Morgan (Dodgers), Harry Ornest (Dodgers), Jack Carney (Dodgers), Norm Carney (Arrows), Frank Finn (Arrows); outfielders—Dave Brockie (Arrows), Al Superstein (Dodgers), George Green (Dodgers), Nick Masikewich (Arrows).

Tommy Brant and Johnny Gray are expected to be the opposing pitchers for tonight's game.

Walk-Rites Drop Opening Contest In Western Final

SASKATOON, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Regina Cups last night chalked up a 6-1 victory over Edmonton Walk-Rites in the first game of a best-of-seven series for the western Canada women's fastball championship.

The Manitoba representatives, St. Boniface Athletics, were eliminated from the initial round-robin series after suffering two straight setbacks.

Kay Bennet, hurling for Regina, allowed only four hits, while Janet Anderson, Walk-Rites' pitcher, allowed six.

Caps scored one run in the first, three in the third and two in the seventh inning. Edmonton's lone run came in the fourth.

Score by innings:

Edmonton	000 100 000—	1	4
Regina	103 010 10x—	6	6

Intermediates Defeat Seniors

Behind the steady pitching of Nellie Brown, Ernie Smith's All-Stars from the intermediate girls' league defeated the senior girls' All Stars in an exhibition game last night in Kingsway Park by the score of 9-3.

Big feature of the game was the pitching of Nellie Brown, who held the senior leaguers in check with only six hits and struck out nine.

Score by innings:

Intermediate	102 102 003—	9	8
Senior	021 000 000—	3	6

Batteries—Brown and Fediuk; Verenka and Pope.

Umpires—Bible and Barlow.

Detroit Dims Yankee Hopes In Splitting Doubleheader

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Detroit Tigers broke out their fence-busting bats just long enough Wednesday to chill the Yankees' challenge to their American League lead by splitting a doubleheader with the New Yorkers before the season's biggest week-day crowd in Yankee Stadium.

They pulled the opener out of the hat 10-7 with a five-run ninth-inning flare-up featuring an awesome assortment of long-distance dynamiting for the entertainment of 51,311 customers.

But in the nightcap their bats were all of holes and they bowed 5-1 before the stylish southpawing of Joe Page who served up a fancy three-hitter in his first route-going performance this year.

All of this five-hour fuss left the recently red-hot Yanks thoroughly chilled, 5½ games off the pace after dropping two of three starts so far played in their current seven-game series.

Second game:

Detroit ..... 000 000 010—1 3 0
New York ..... 014 000 00x—5 8 1

Benton, Eaton and Richards; Page and Robinson.

INDIANS, BOSTON DIVIDE

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—After Bob Feller suffered his first post-war setback by a 2-1 margin, Cleveland Indians split an American League doubleheader with Boston Red Sox Wednesday capturing the nightcap, 5-2.

Feller held the Sockers to seven hits but they scored both their runs in the second inning on triples by Johnny Lazor, Skeeter Newsome and Tommy McBride's double. The Indians also tallied in that frame on Don Ross' single and Frankie Hayes' fun-bagger against Otto Clark, who was belted for nine other scattered hits.

Allie Reynolds limited the Sockers to six hits in the afternoon, which the Indians clinched in the eighth inning after driving started Nandy Mellin off the mound in the fifth.

Cleveland ..... 010 000 000—1 11 0
Boston ..... 020 000 00x—2 7 1

Feller and Hayes; Clark and Steiner.

Second game:

Boston ..... 000 001 001—2 6 2

Reynolds and Hayes; Heflin, Barrett and Holm.

BROWNS, SENATORS SPLIT

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—(AP)—St. St. Louis came from behind last night to win the second game of an American League doubleheader, 5-4 in 10 innings, after Washington won the twilight contest, 2-1 in 11 innings.

The Senators almost had both victories wrapped up with a 4-0 lead and two Browns out in the ninth inning of the second game, but Lou Finney tied the score with an inside-the-park homer.

Vern Stephens' triple and Mark Christman's single produced St. Louis' winning run in the 10th.

Playoffs Tuesday In Association

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 6.—(AP)—President George M. Trautman of the American Association announced Wednesday the Little World series would be held as usual and that the Shaughnessy playoffs in the Association would begin Tuesday.

The Little World series matches the playoff winners of the Association and the International League. Its status, like that of the World series, was in doubt during the closing weeks of the war because of transportation difficulties.

British Arrest Max Schmeling

HERFORD, Germany, Sept. 6.—(AP)—Former heavyweight boxing champion Max Schmeling was arrested by British military government authorities last night and charged with "breach of military government orders."

It was expected that his trial would be scheduled for some time next week. The charge is the first of its kind to come before military courts in the British zone.

ATLANTA, Ga., Sept. 6.—(AP)—Cecil Travis, Washington infielder, was discharged from the army Wednesday and left immediately to rejoin the American League team.

The 32-year-old baseball star served overseas with the 76th infantry division in Belgium, Luxembourg and Germany.

Leafs Prepared Finance Juniors

TORONTO, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League are prepared to make a "gift" of a hockey team comprising high-salaried junior players to "some enterprising municipality" on a first come, first served basis, the Globe and Mail said today in a Montreal dispatch by staff writer Claude Kewley.

Kewley said the team, embracing players not yet ripe for NHL competition, would be entered in a group such as the Quebec Junior League and would play home games "in whatever municipality has the necessary rink."

"The Leafs would shoulder all the financial burdens," said the story. "If no Ontario municipality is interested in the proposition, then this second club or farm team of the Leafs will play under a Toronto banner.

Fixers Two Up Calgary Playoff

CALGARY, Sept. 6.—(CP)—No. 10 Repair Depot—led by the pitching and batting of Ray Humble—defeated Currie Army 8-3 here last night. Fixers now lead the best of seven game Foothills Baseball League finals, two games to none. Third contest will be played here Thursday evening starting at 6 p.m.

In going down to their second defeat in as many days, the soldiers displayed the fact that they had lost some of their drive in the semi-finals and lacked the hitting power of the Fixers.

St. Leger Won By Chamossaire

YORK, England, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Chamossaire, owned by Squadron Leader Stanhope Joel of the RAF won the St. Leger Stake Wednesday before a crowd estimated unofficially at 150,000.

The King's colt, Rising Light, was second in the 1945 running of England's oldest horse race. The royal thoroughbred ran at odds of 9 to 2.

Chamossaire finished two lengths ahead of Rising Light and Stirling Castle was another three-quarters of a length back.

The winner in the 10-horse field started at odds of 11 to 2. Stirling Castle started at 7 to 1. The race was worth £4,000.

In Battle of Hong Kong

Death of Brigadier Is Described

By GEORGE HAWKES

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—How the Canadian brigadier at Hong Kong was killed in the gallant but unsuccessful defence of the British crown colony by British and Canadian troops in December, 1941, was told yesterday by a Canadian sergeant from D Company of the Winnipeg Grenadiers.

(This dispatch gave neither the name of the brigadier nor that of the sergeant but the Canadian Hong Kong contingent of two battalions, the Winnipeg Grenadiers and the Royal Rifles of Canada, and a brigade headquarters was commanded by Brig. J. K. Lawson of Leamington, Ont., who was reported killed in action.)

The sergeant saw the brigadier fall when attempting to escape from withering Japanese fire four days before the brigade surrendered Christmas Day.

FOUGHT IN BATTLE

The sergeant, who fought through the Hong Kong battle, was liberated Tuesday from imprisonment at Niigata camp, northwest of Yokohama, where he worked in a coal mine under awful conditions of cold, starvation, flogging and insults.

His company was at Wan Nie Gap, close to brigade headquarters, when they "found themselves cut off and perhaps unable to fight their way out. Realizing his duty lay with the main line if success were to be achieved, the brigadier decided to risk his life in making a run for it.

The brigadier's aide and an intelligence officer went with him. As they ran they were observed by Japanese who poured a hail of machine-gun fire at them and the men fell dead. The company commander also was killed and a British colonel named Walker took over command and negotiated surrender of the besieged troops, thus saving their lives.

SURRENDERED LATER

A chaplain ultimately was permitted to return to the lines unharmed. Four days later Hong Kong surrendered and the prisoners were removed to various camps scattered from Hong Kong to Japan, Formosa and Thailand.

Province Unable Get Men Released

Delays in getting the release from the armed forces of former provincial government technical personnel is hampering the province's construction program, the Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, said Wednesday.

"The Dominion government has been announcing that anyone in the armed forces who can show he has a job to go to may secure his release, yet for three months I have been trying to get three or four of our former engineers back on the staff and have come against a stone wall," the minister stated.

He said that between 15 and 20 technical men from the public works department are in the armed forces at the present time. "They are fed up with having been sitting around doing nothing, and yet they can't get out of the army. They are fed up with inactivity and want to get back, and we certainly need them in the department," he said.

Mr. Fallow said he did not want to ask for the release of men who are still needed in the services but he could see no reason for holding men who are "sitting around at office doing nothing", particularly in the light of federal government's announcement.

First Practical Step Is Taken For National Fitness Program

As a first practical step in establishing the program of national physical fitness under the department of national health and welfare, selected national parks throughout Canada are being considered for development with equipment and facilities for sports and recreation, said Maj. Ian Eisenhardt, national director of physical fitness, in an address Wednesday before an audience of Alberta Public Health Association members, meeting in the Macdonald hotel.

Alberta's share of the $225,000 federal appropriation set aside for physical fitness program will be $15,390, and this grant will be made when the province contributes an equal amount, the speaker stated.

NOT WAR PRODUCT

Although the Physical Fitness Act was passed in 1943 it was not a product of this war, said Major Eisenhardt. Canada's interest in physical fitness dated back to the period when the League of Nations was compiling data from observations of both campaigns then current in European countries.

It was true that events had proved most of these countries had either offense or defense as the motivation behind their physical fitness programs. But however they employed their scheme it could not be argued that national fitness in body and mind was in any way detrimental to the security of peacetime.

"With a good nutrition program and with medical and dental care prior to enlistment, there would have been many less rejections in the armed services, as was demonstrated in an experimental camp during the war where the salvage average was high," the major continued.

GIVES DEFINITION

Asked to define physical fitness, the speaker replied: "Physical fitness is that quality which enables you to carry on when others are carried out."

The speaker pointed to unhealthy influences in crowded urban centres where children and adolescents were left largely to their own devices in finding recreation. When other countries had found the solution to this problem there was no good reason why a country like Canada, boundless in its natural resources and beauties, could not do likewise and do it much better, the speaker said.

During summer the railways of Denmark had placed their facilities at the disposal of all scheme for the supervised transportation of urban children to the natural beauty spots and recreation centres of that country. Country children were in turn treated to city visits. This the railway did as a contribution to the country's fitness program, he said, adding that there was opportunity now in post-war years for the same patriotic gesture in Canada.

Major Eisenhardt traced the history of physical fitness and pointed to the important but unconscious part it played in the cultures of the past, notably with the Romans, Athenians, Spartans and other races known for their vigor and vitality.

RESOLUTION PASSED

The meeting passed a resolution to approach the government with a view to obtaining permission to use military buildings as reconverted recreation centres, and thus to add materially to an immediate beginning of the campaign on a nation-wide scale.

The two-day sessions ended with an address Wednesday afternoon by Dr. G. M. Little, city health officer, who reported on the communicability of "trench mouth," or Vincent's infection. Chief cause of its transmissibility was unsterilized utensils such as forks, spoons, cups and any utensil which came into contact with the mouth or lips.

Wartime scarcity of crockery had placed a heavy burden on the operator of eating places with the result that much of the equipment had become damaged, cracked or chipped, providing thereby a better retreat for bacteria to germinate.

Sanitation ordinances requiring restaurateurs to sterilize, their dishes after each usage had not been altered, said the health officer, except in the case of cracked cups which, due to the shortage were allowed to be used only if boiled after each use.

KISSING BLAMED

"Cafes and restaurants have no doubt taken a great deal of blame that could be more justly attributed to promiscuous kissing which is an effective way of spreading trench mouth, among other things," the doctor stated.

The doctor told the audience of the details in the Sanitation Act as applying to restaurants and other food places and emphasized that continued watchfulness would be kept to see that the regulations were observed.

As a final word to officers of health and sanitation officers, Dr. Little said it was his opinion that clean utensils free from the possibility of contamination is the object that should be striven for."

Ask Establishment Of Summer Camps

A proposal for the establishment of summer camps for youths in the national parks was discussed Wednesday morning at the legislative building when Ian Eisenhardt, Ottawa, national director of physical fitness, the latter a member of the health and public welfare, conferred with the education minister, Hon. R. Earl Ansley.

Alberta is one of six provinces participating in the plan. Under a distribution by the Dominion of $225,000 for the physical fitness program, Alberta's share would be $15,590, and would be matched dollar for dollar by the provincial government.

Mr. Eisenhardt, who arrived in the city Wednesday to address the annual meeting of the Alberta Public Health Association which is being held in the Macdonald hotel, said that Alberta was the smallest community program of any of the six provinces which are participating in the plan.

The three provinces which have not yet entered the scheme are Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, although interest in the scheme has been shown in all of them, Mr. Eisenhardt said.

Youth Stamp Day Proceeds at $797

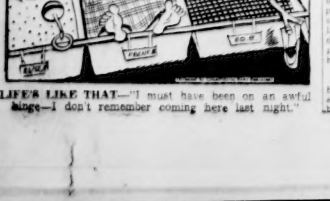

Edmonton's children were congratulated on their fine showing on Youth Stamp Day, last Friday by Miss Cora Sutter, in charge of stamp sales. The young people sold $797 worth of the stamps, passing their previous record by more than $80.

Joan Slater and Audrey Cole lead the field with Keith Potts, Barbara Ham, Lois and Elsie McCready, David Lancastle and Donald Muir as runners-up.

Shirley Cook, Lorne Longman and Mort Scarrow topped the newspaper carriers sales group.

Find Woman Shot Dead by Husband

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6—(CP)—Mrs. Olena Johnson, 55, found dead in the kitchen of her West Winnipeg home Aug. 1, was shot to death by her husband, Walter Johnson, 60, a coroner's jury said in a verdict returned at an inquest last night.

Body of Constable, an employee of the Manitoba telephone system, was discovered at the same time as his wife. It was laying in the living room with a shotgun nearby. Police believe it was a case of murder and suicide.

A. E. Rose, brother-in-law of the dead woman, testified at the inquest that Johnson had refused to pay for a medical check-up needed by his wife. He said that Mrs. Johnson had spoken bitterly of this during a visit.

SUGAR INDUSTRY GROWS

City Firms Plan Work Pile Survey

A rehabilitation committee from each of the service clubs in Edmonton will conduct a survey of firms represented in their membership with a view to ascertaining the number and variety of jobs available in Edmonton at the present time.

Decision to act on this plan was made at a meeting of service club representatives Tuesday night under auspices of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce. Joe MacKenzie, chairman of the chamber's committee on rehabilitation presided.

Junior Chamber of Commerce Commences Season's Activities

More than 120 members, prospective members and guests of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday night were enthusiastically ushered in the new season of activities at the opening meeting of the 1945-46 term in the Macdonald hotel.

The dinner was held under chairmanship of President John L. McIntyre and was marked by the installation of 14 new members, the introduction of more than 20 guests and visitors, reports and entertainment presented by Hal Verza.

HEAD TABLE GUESTS

Guests at the head table included Lawrence Y. Cairns, KC, honorary president of the chamber, who delivered the principal address of the evening; Eddie Mah, Chinese Edmontonian, and Mrs. L. Lang, one of those taking part in a musical program.

Leonard Aldridge, past president and chairman of the fine personnel committee, introduced Capt. Joel Smith, Lieut. Lyal Roper, John Scott, Bert Lange and Vern Hamly as former members of the JayCee executive recently released from the armed forces.

New members who were inducted included K. L. Ford, A. Macdonald, G. E. Cook, W. Duggan, C. Campbell, J. W. Mosdell, T. W. McGee, H. J. Dawe, C. J. Roberts, E. E. Arlidge, W. Haline, W. R. Hawatye, W. Morrison, D. H. Troughton, A. E. Nightingale.

Mr. Aldridge announced that 40 per cent of recent additions to the club roster are ex-servicemen.

A sing-song was led by Lyal Roper, accompanied by pianist Durham Williams. The new executive, introduced to the club, included: First vice-president, Robert Swanson; second vice-president, Al Hetherington; secretary, Richard Horn; treasurer, John McSteekin.

It was revealed that Clayton Dolaghan has been named chairman of a Junior Chamber committee for the national clothing drive, operating in Edmonton under general chairmanship of John Dower. Vern Sadd, executive member, announced that a meeting of the Civic Affairs committee will be held next Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at police headquarters, under chairmanship of Vern Whitaker. Winner of a raffle conducted during the dinner was Robert English.

Mr. McIntyre reported on the activities of the JayCee executive during the summer months, dealing particularly with the junior chamber's war savings stamp booth at the Edmonton exhibition, operated by James Wilson and Norman Myles, and the publication of a pamphlet in connection with the City of Edmonton Recreation Week by Douglas Homersham, Larry Hodgins and Joe McKenzie.

Mr. Verza presented on his program of entertainment Mrs. Lang, Chinese harpist, and Sgt. Frank Herman, magician of the U.S Army Special Services Division.

Derry Derrington, head of the current membership drive, reported on the work of his group.

50 Per Cent Crops Near Endiang Cut

ENDIANG—To date about 50 per cent of this year's crop has been cut. There has been a delay of several days due to rain, while livestock is pasturing on fields where crops have been partially damaged by hail or where the grain has been damaged by scorching heat and drought.

HOLDEN—Combining started in the Holden district this week, which is reported light due to hail and drought.

Lend-Lease Scene For Housing Probed

Approximately 350 of the 895 homes for which building permits have been issued by the city building inspector's office are unoccupied and likely to remain so unless essential building materials are made available to the owners of these homes, it was stated Wednesday by Maxwell C. Dewar, city architect.

He said there was a shortage of plumbing fixtures, plaster lath, wall board and other building materials. It was reported that one city plumbing contractor had installation contracts for 60 homes and was unable to meet the contract because of shortages of material.

Mr. Dewar said that the policy of "land lease" was being explored under which materials now available for government housing projects here would be made available to private builders pending delivery of further supplies from the manufacturers. He also hopeful that this proposal would be carried through.

Mr. Dewar pointed out that the completion of the 350 homes to a point where the owners could take possession would open up a similar amount of housing accommodation in the city and is a long way toward meeting the present desperate situation.

Alberta Harvest Is in Full Swing

OTTAWA, Sept. 6.—(CP)—Harvesting operations are in full swing all across Canada and prospects are for somewhat lower production than last year, although no serious shortages are likely except in the dry areas of southwestern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta, the Dominion bureau of statistics reported yesterday.

Harvesting is becoming general throughout Alberta, although scattered showers and heavy rains have caused some delay in the central and northern areas. Threshing is under way in the south and in the Peace River district.

Yields are "extremely variable" throughout the province, making it difficult to appraise the average crop. However, the average yield of from 12 to 12.5 bushels of wheat appears likely. The grade will be below No. 1 in most areas and is best in the Peace River district.

An acute feed shortage is reported from the southeastern districts and indications are that a considerable number of cattle will have to be liquidated before winter.

The ROAD AHEAD

By Capt. HARPER PROWSE, M.L.A.

IN EVERY city and town in the country the approach of fall has started the annual discussions about civic elections. The next few years are going to be as important as they will be interesting, because our actions and decisions are going to influence our entire future. All returned men, as well as all those who have faith in the future of this country, should start now to do some real thinking about these elections, and the men whom they are going to choose to shape the future.

In spite of the fact that Canada is a young country, and in spite of all the talk one hears about the necessity of getting young men to accept public office, it has been the general practice to leave the government of our communities, in the hands of men who are ready to retire. That is why this country is so short of able leaders. Because most men don't get into public life until they are ready to retire, which means that by the time they have the experience to enable them to make some useful contribution to the communities they serve, old age has caught up with them and forced them out of public life.

I SAW TODAY—Neil D. Maclean, K.C. at the court house, well-launched after a vacation in the mountains.

AND

Bill Pryce crossing the Market Square during the morning; Mrs. Margaret McIvor engaged in a busy round of shopping in the Highlands district; Alf. Edwardson, wearing an officer's uniform of the Canadian Navy shaking hands with old acquaintances at the police station; Detective Hugh McLean pounding a typewriter at the same establishment; Bob Coleman climbing off a street car at the Jasper-McDougall intersection; Paul Norman enjoying a mid-morning breather from the busy tasks of the day.

It seems obvious that men who are looking forward to early retirement are not going to be able to give us the leadership necesary to plan for the future. They are bound to be too interested in seeing that nothing happens which could possibly affect their personal plans to look into the future to see what we need to meet it and take full advantage of the progress which is bound to come.

NEED ENERGY, VISION

While we need the experience which only age can give to a man with his mature judgments and his "take it easy" complexes, we also need the energy and vision which is the exclusive property of youth. For too long that energy and vision

Tuberculosis Not Inherited Doctor States

Even as late as today there still persists with many persons the mistaken notion that everybody has a little tuberculosis. There is no basis for this belief. Tuberculosis is not inherited, said Dr. G. R. Davison, superintendent of sanatoria for Edmonton, in an address Wednesday to members of the Alberta Health League meeting at the Macdonald hotel.

Dr. Davison dwelt on technical matters connected with discovery and treatment of tuberculosis as contacted by children and adults.

THREE TYPES

There were three types of the tubercle bacillus—avian, bovine and human, with the bovine accounting for the greatest percentage of the disease, since the germ is easily carried in unclean milk.

When school age children are found to be infected it was an emphatic necessity to trace the source of their infection, "and in the majority of cases the focus of infection will be found in one of the older members of the family," the doctor stated.

Dr. Davison strongly urged that all persons whose work entails the handling of food in public eating places "should be checked religiously." A certificate of health should be part of their reference to work in these occupations, the doctor warned.

ADOPTS RESOLUTION

In the morning session the convention adopted a resolution of its medical section cautioning public health workers to be on the lookout for a virulent type of diphtheria, prevalent in Germany and liberated countries, which, it was said, might be imported by returning service men who were themselves immune.

A particularly deadly strain of diphtheria bacilli had been observed overseas, it was stated. This form of diphtheria, in which the characteristic throat membrane did not appear before the patient died, prevailed in Germany shortly before the war.

Two other important resolutions passed were first, that a refresher course be available annually for the sanitary inspectors of Alberta. Second, that the university authorities be approached with the object of establishing courses in mental hygiene for all public health workers.

NEW OFFICERS

The new officers elected at the morning meeting were: president, D. Menzies; vice-president, Dr. M. G. McCallum; nurses' representative, Miss Eileen McCuish; sanitary inspectors' representative, W. Pillidge, Calgary; medical representative, Dr. Geraldine Oakley; secretary-treasurer, C. C. Evoy.

It was decided the next convention would be held in Calgary.

THE QUESTION

What is your impression of the warnings that have been received from various civil and unofficial circles regarding a so-called "crime wave" that may sweep across the country now that the war is over?

THE ANSWERS

EILEEN HETHERINGTON, garment saleslady: Having received a warning like that, it is now up to the people of Canada to prepare themselves, not by tightening up the bars and locks on our penitentaries, but by rooting out the places where crime is bred—in the slums and the back alleys.

EDWARD CUNNINGHAM, laborer: I think the fear of a crime wave is rather a slur on the ex-servicemen who are on their way home. After all, these boys have all been fighting in lines all over the world just so as to come home and allow all the things they've been fighting for to go to waste because of a wave of gangsters and hoodlumism.

NORMAN MATTHEWS, radio technician: It happened once before didn't it? Let's consider where the warning comes from; if it is from some hysterical group of trouble-baiters we can treat it as the nonsense it is. If on the other hand, it has a note of knowledge behind it, then I think we'd better do something before any kind of a crime wave materializes.

Archie Causes Flock of Concern

He May Have Become a Casualty

To Ruffled Owner, City Detective

By BERT NIGHTINGALE

Detective Kenny O'Brien at police headquarters is looking for Archie. And there's just the possibility that Archie may be lying at the side of some road with his feet in the air, his eyes glazed and his throat slashed.

If that's the case, according to the sleuth, there's going to be the dickens to pay.

Archie is—or was—a trained rooster, the property of an elderly English gentleman resident in the West End of the city. For the last few days, the gentleman has been missing his bird, which is profoundly disturbing, inasmuch as he was very much attached to the creature.

A THEORY

Of course, according to habitues of the detective office who are maintaining a keen interest in the matter, there is always the chance that Archie has joined a flock of his feathered brethren who have their domicile in a pen in the same neighborhood.

But it isn't likely.

Detective O'Brien has interviewed the owner of the other flock. Didn't "egg-sactly" find out what he wanted to. "If Archie's playing around with my roosters and hens, then call him, and he'll no doubt come a-cluckin'," was the flock-owner's suggestion.

Archie's master had another idea. "Drive all your chickens into my yard, then I'll call Archie and he'll jump onto his favorite perch, if he's mixed up with the others," he said.

Wasn't practical. Too many chickens to move from one yard to the other.

A POSSIBILITY

There was also the possibility, aired among other thoughts, that Archie looked so much like other roosters that he might have had his head lopped off and right now is reposing on th- dinner table of a hungry Edmonton family.

"If that's happened, take one of my birds—or I'll reimburse you for Archie," the flock-owner declared. No dice. Archie's owner isn't taking any dashed buck and a half rooster like that.

In the meantime Detective O'Brien's Irish humor is not adversely affected — outwardly at least.

Farmer Is Killed While Threshing

Fred Tichkowsky, 46-year-old farmer of Star, in the Lamont district was killed accidentally at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the runaway of a horse-drawn binder during threshing operations, according to RCMP.

Married and the father of four children, Tichkowsky, according to reports, got his arm tangled in the binder's roller mechanism and was dragged about 250 yards by the horses.

Dr. M. Young, district coroner, said no inquest would be held.

Livestock Show Will Open Nov. 6

Prize lists for the fall livestock show and sales sponsored by the Edmonton Exhibition Association were issued Thursday and show substantial increases in the amounts being offered in the different competitions.

The show will be held Nov. 6 to 9 inclusive, and will include classes for sheep, swine and cattle. Swine entries will not be accepted unless a certificate from a veterinarian is attached to the entry indicating that swine entered are not infected with rhinitis.

Breeders who have not yet applied for inspection of swine as suggested by O. S. Longman, deputy minister of agriculture, should submit application for such inspection at an early date to Dr. F. K. Talbot, provincial veterinarian.

Entries in all classes close on October 6, it was announced by Charles E. Wilson, managing director of the association.

Leadership Is Demanded For Beautification of City

If the proper civic leadership were given, Edmontonians would "support to the last man" the making of this city into one of the most beautiful on the North American continent, Lawrence Y. Cairns, KC, leading Edmonton barrister, Wednesday evening told a dinner meeting of the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Macdonald hotel.

The beautification of Edmonton can be done cheaply, Mr. Cairns, past president of the local Senior Chamber of Commerce, asserted. "If you wanted to beautify your office in the business world, you'd calcimine the walls, use a bit of paint, put a new rug on the floor; you'd get yourself a haircut and new suit and step out to tell the world 'look at me, I'm prosperity'," he declared.

"Edmonton is like that business office, only it hasn't got its new suit or its haircut. . . .

"I have felt for a long time that the young fellows of Edmonton are not taking a sufficient interest in the administration of their city," Mr. Cairns said. "Youth can contribute enthusiasm . . . it isn't tied down by experience.". Member of the first graduating class of the University of Alberta, the barrister urged young men to step into organizations that are able to sponsor their election to public office.

He referred to one of the members of the junior chamber who had taken this step, John Lazarowich, who last year became a member of the public library board.

Referring again to Edmonton, Mr. Cairns remarked: "I believe something has happened here without most citizens knowing about it. We've been going along with our city getting a little better each year."

BUT NOTHING DONE

"But we've done absolutely nothing about it," Mr. Cairns continued. "Look at our streets . . . our Jasper Avenue beyond 109 street; cracked pavements with hay growing out of the cracks. Think of that from the standpoint of the visitor!"

The speaker pointed to Edmonton's "magnificent civic site, with beautiful hills on each side; what are we doing about it? We talk about a park—the railway says the city should construct it—the city says its the railway's job, and nobody does anything."

"We need beauty," Mr. Cairns declared.

"Edmontonians are beauty conscious if they just get the necessary leadership."

He added that "people are tired of doing things for posterity, they want to smell their flowers now."

SUPPORT ASSURED

If the Junior Chamber of Commerce were to provide that leadership, he continued, the chamber would find the citizens of Edmonton wholeheartedly behind it.

Mr. Cairns address was acknowledged by JayCee Peter Grzechuk.

Alfalfa Affected By Bacterial Wilt

A report from Dr. D. M. Cormack, of the Dominion plant pathological staff here, states that bacterial wilt of alfalfa has become a fairly prominent disease in some of the districts of central Alberta. It is common at Brooks and very similar throughout the irrigated areas.

In his annual survey, Dr. Cormack inspected 109 fields in the Clover Bar and Bremner districts and found 30 per cent of the area infected.

The disease, which is widespread in the United States, is a disease of the roots. Symptoms are the plant turns from a healthy cream color to yellow and the plant will not grow very tall. Wilt reduces the stand and results in earlier reseeding of the plant.

CARDINAL VILLENEUVE

Church Officials To Meet Cardinal

Cardinal Rodrigo Villeneuve of Quebec city, head of the Roman Catholic church in Canada, arrived in Edmonton on the CPR train Thursday afternoon. He will be greeted at the station by priests and laity of the church, headed by Mons. W. B. Carleton of the Edmonton cathedral rectory.

Archbishop J. H. MacDonald of Edmonton, Archbishop G. Breynat and Bishop U. Langlois will meet the train carrying Cardinal Villeneuve at Leduc and will return to Edmonton with him.

Except that he will officiate at the ordination of Bishop Abthony Jordon, OMI of Prince Rupert and Bishop Henri Routhier, OMI, of Pincher Creek at St. Albert on Saturday, no program is planned for the first part of his visit.

On Sunday, besides performing his ecclesiastical duties he will be guest of honor at a dinner, given by the Knights of Columbus in the Macdonald hotel.

Cardinal Villeneuve, who is travelling by special car is accompanied by Archbishop Cabana and Mons. Paul Bernier of St. Boniface, Man., and Fr. F. Nicole and Mr. Corriveau of Quebec City.

Many Queries Received Here For Industries

Twenty-seven applications for information concerning establishment of industrial and commercial enterprises in Edmonton were handled by the Edmonton Industrial Development Board during the past month, according to C. E. Garnett, chairman of the board.

Included in the types of industry, many of which are new to this city, are animal products, electrical, sheet metal and plastic manufacturing.

In addition to general manufacturing requests, information has been given regarding expansion of wholesale and distributing facilities in this area. Some of these are from United States and British interests desirous of opening up operations here, considering Edmonton a natural distributing centre for Western Canada.

"The chief problem at the moment," said Mr. Garnett, "is to provide accommodation for such industry and business. We have requests for up to 40,000 square feet of space and two or three requests for a minimum of 10,000 to 20,000 square feet.

We believe that with the lifting of restrictions on commercial and industrial building now in effect, a good deal of local and outside capital would be available to provide the structures necessary to accommodate those who desire to engage in manufacturing and distributing here."

DOROTHY DIX SAYS:

Girl, Jilted by Benedict Should Lose Like Lady

A Year Ago a Girl Met and Fell in Love With a Married Man 16 Years Her Senior and for Five Months Lived in Fool's Paradise

DEAR MISS DIX: A year ago I met and fell in love with a married man 16 years my senior and for five months I lived with him in a fool's paradise, for I believed him when he told me that he would get a divorce from his wife and marry me. His wife found out about us and called me on long distance telephone to tell me that she was on her way to square this triangle. We did not meet, but one flood of tears he assured me that all would be well if I would only be patient, faithful, and have courage.

He went away with his wife, but during the following six months he wrote me the most ardent love letters during which time I planned our wedding and honeymoon trip. Then, like a bolt from the blue, I received a letter from him saying he and his wife had made up and that I would never hear from him again, and that he hoped I would find some other man.

SILENT TREATMENT

I have written him begging to know what happened to make him change so, but my letters remain unanswered. Have you any explanation of why he would give me such a bum deal and then sit with me down? I am frantic, a nervous wreck and can't stop crying. I want to write to his wife or to his firm to find out about why he acted as he did. What is your advice?

B.M.H.

ANSWER: My earnest advice to you is to follow the example of the woman who, when she was forsaken by a faithless man, said: "I won him like a lover, I am losing him like a lady." There spoke the woman who was a good sport and who, at least, saved her own face by not groveling at the feet of the man who had kicked her down and trampled over her, deaf to her tears and entreaties.

You cannot bring this man back to you, because he is tired of you and done with you, but you can keep from adding the last touch to your humiliation by not writing to his wife and his business firm about your sordid little romance, and giving them a chance to jeer at you for being just another dupe. For such a man's pathway is strewn with the broken hearts of the women who have loved him and whom he has left.

But what else did you expect? Even a girl baby knows that when she has a love affair with a married man she is playing with dynamite and that, nine times out of ten, it blows up and leaves her like a wreck. For the man is merely amusing himself and breaking the monotony of domesticity by playing around with the pretties. It pleases his vanity to see that he is still a devil among the ladies and that he can take a young girl away from the boys of her own age. He soothes her qualms of conscience by telling her that he is unhappy with his wife and with promises to get a divorce and marry her.

But the divorce doesn't materialize and then some day the love nest falls to pieces, and the girl is burned somewhere in the wreckage. You have seen it happen to dozens of other girls. Why didn't you ever think it would happen to you? It is the commonest tragedy in the world and the most pitiful because added to the girl's suffering from her hurt and her broken dreams is the sure knowledge that she is paying the price of her wrongdoing in the bitter realization that she has been a fool.

RICH WOMAN

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a very rich woman. Three months ago a discharged veteran of whom I have always been fond returned from the war. He is 25. I am 67. He says he is madly in love with me and begs me to marry him. I am not a complete fool, however. I know my money is the great attraction, though I have always been considered a charming woman.

Should I marry this man and have a few moments of happiness, or should I keep my money and my lonely heart?

ABIGAL.

ANSWER: Prove that you have not gone senile by saying no to the lad who would probably become a parasite on an old woman than to work for a living. There is no spark of manhood or decency in such a creature, and the minute he got his hand on your purse he would be done with all of his love-making and wouldn't even treat you politely. The poorest bargain and the one she regrets the most that any woman ever makes is when she buys herself a young husband.

Don't deceive yourself into thinking that you would have even a few moments of happiness. You wouldn't. From your wedding day you would know nothing but the futile jealousy of young and pretty girls, and the awful boredom of trying to keep a young himself and look like a Lady Love instead of Grandma, and the exhausting labor of seeking to keep a boy entertained and amused.

Keep your money and your peace of mind.

By making six clubs on today's hand, Mrs. Peterson won top score for her partner and herself.

The opening diamond lead was won with dummy's ace. Mrs. Peterson discarding a spade. Dummy's spade was led, and, when West went up with the jack, Mrs. Peterson played low. A trump came back and the eight-spot held the trick. A small spade knocked out East's ace and dummy ruffed. The ace and king of hearts were then cashed and another trump finesse taken. Dummy's eight of hearts was discarded on the king of spades. The losing heart was ruffed, establishing the jack for a trick. Thus Mrs. Peterson was able to make six-odd.

McCoy Health Service

If you could sit down and read all the letters comihg to me from Canada and the United States, I am sure you would be surprised to find how many of them mention "that tired feeling."

Abdominal tiredness may occur as an outstanding symptom in many of the chronic diseases, for example, the patient with diabetes, anemia, tuberculosis and prolapsus may complain of it. It may also occur as a symptom in the functional disorders, of which nervousness is a good example. "Feeling tired all the time" may also be experienced by those who are having an attack of the condition popularly known as Spring Fever, although in these cases, it is common for it to disappear later on and this type of tiredness therefore lacks the persistency of the usual variety.

The symptom of tiredness is a purely subjective symptom—it is something which the subject feels and may not be noticed in the same way that a broken leg may be examined. When a person says that he is tired we take it for granted that he is experiencing the same feeling or sensation which others undergo after hard physical work.

The other symptoms described by those who are unduly tired are so numerous that an entire book might be written about them; however the following list includes the more frequent ones: The patient finds physical exertion an effort: If he is sitting down, he hesitates before getting out of his chair, and if he is lying down he is not inclined to rise quickly. He has a tendency to stop whatever he is doing to start something else. He finds it hard to relax. Instead of maintaining an erect posture, there is a tendency to slouch over. The patient may find that his attention wanders while he is working and he may notice a peculiar sensation of the skin which he calls "itchiness" or "creepiness."

The tired person is inclined to be over-irritable and is annoyed at himself for being annoyed over trifles. Mentally, he leans toward discouragement and depression and towards anxiousness about his physical condition. When it comes to social affairs, he is likely to feel too tired to go out and will say that the extra effort is too much for him. Yet, if he does go he is likely to find that under the stimulation of good company, the usual tiredness may disappear.

All questions regarding health and diet will be answered. Large stamped, self addressed envelope must be enclosed. Write on one side of paper only. Letters must not exceed 150 words. Address McCoy Health Service, The McCoy Building, 1151 West 6th Street, Los Angeles, Calif.

Hunger is a very capricious thing. It may mean that we need food, and it may not. It does not arise from body needs directly but comes from rhythmic contractions of the muscles in the stomach. These hunger pains may arise from our eating habits, and are likely to come on at about the time of day we usually eat, whether or not the supply of food in the body is exhausted. People who go on long fasts say that these hunger pains leave them after the first couple of days, even though the body is getting weaker and weaker from the lack of food.

Miss Eastes Is Married

PONOKA, Sept. 6.—Under an archway banked high with white stocks and white gladioli, and against a setting of candlelit rooms in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Eastes, Ponoka, September 1 at 9 p.m., their eldest daughter, Miss Geraldine Gertrude Eastes became the bride of Elwyn George Jones of Calgary, son of Mrs. W. M. Williams of Ponoka and the late Owen Jones. The Rev. E. Davidge officiated. The wedding music was played by Mrs. G. P. Puffer, aunt of the bride, and Hubert Puffer sang "I love You Truly."

WHITE LACE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in slipper-length white lace and net, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long net veil held to her head by a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses and gardenias and her only piece of jewelry was an amber pendant, a gift of her grandmother in England.

Miss Janet Eastes, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Leslie K. Walton of Calgary was best man and W. D. Puffer of Bashaw, was usher.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the bride's home where Mrs. Eastes, mother of the bride, receiving with the bridal party wore a two-piece cream wool ensemble with accessories in robins egg blue and a corsage of pink carnations.

FIGURED CREPE

Mrs. Williams, mother of the bridegroom, was frocked in black figured crepe and tiny flower hat.

The bride's table was centred with an ecru cutwork lace cloth and centred with a three-tiered bridal cake. Mrs. Ross Annet of Cansort presided at the coffee urn, assisted by Mrs. Gomer Jenkins, Miss Wilma Reid and Mrs. Sarah Bertner. Mr. Davidge proposed the bridal toast.

The couple are spending a honeymoon in Banff. Later they will make their home in Calgary.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. C. J. Banford, Mrs. R. L. Patrick, of Stettler; Mrs. R.R. Annett of Consort; Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Puffer and family of Bashaw.

$50,000 Minimum Objective For Princess Alice Fund

The Princess Alice Foundation Fund for the Education and Development of Youth Leaders is intended as a tribute to The Princess Alice on her departure from Canada.

In the past it has been the custom for the women of Canada to present a gift to the wife of the governor-general upon the completion of his term of office. During her stay in Canada Her Royal Highness has evinced a keen interest in social organizations and particularly those concerned with the youth of the country. For this reason it is felt that on the departure of The Princess Alice no tribute would be so acceptable as a fund to promote the education of young Canadians, particularly young women who give promise of leadership in our communities.

$50,000 OBJECTIVE

The minimum objective of the fund is $50,000, which is expected to yield an annual revenue of $2,000. The main purpose of the fund will be to provide scholarships, bursaries and grants-in-aid to help worthy young people to attend some recognized training centre in Canada or a school outside the country where special training in youth work is available. Proceeds of the fund may also be used from time to time to sponsor young Canadians as participators or observers at international conferences. It is intended that the principle of the fund shall not be impaired for a period of 10 years. Later it may be found desirable to use it for the establishment of a central training school or in some other way designed to achieve the best results in assisting in the development of youth leaders.

FREE FROM TAX

Individual contributions to the fund will be free from income tax. The provisional trustees will be Chief Justice Thibaudeau Rinfret and the auditor general of Canada, Watson Sellar. A co-ordinating committee has been set up to supervise the fund, comprising Mrs. Thibaudeau Rinfret, Mrs. J. L. Ilsley, Senator Iva Fallis, Senator Cairine Wilson and Mrs. John Bracken; the honorary secretaries are Mrs. W. P. J. O'Meara and Mrs. Noel Chasse, and the honorary treasurers, Mrs. G. D. Finlayson and Mrs. L. P. Gagnon.

Consideration is being given to the advisability of making monies from the fund available to assist in the work of workers from youth agencies in different parts of the Commonwealth. The National Council of Social Service and the Council of the Canadian Welfare Council in Canada already have sponsored a movement to exchange social workers and committees are now being set up in England and in Canada to foster this possibility.

SUGGEST MACHINERY

The suggested machinery for making available assistance under the fund is that the following groups should form a committee to examine applications for assistance: The Canadian Association of Adult Education, the Canadian Schools of Social Work, the Canadian Association of Social Workers, the Canadian Welfare Council and the Canadian Council of Education for Citizenship. These organizations have been approached concerning the project by the Prime Minister's co-ordinating committee. Applications coming before the selection committee would be supported by some national body which has shown a substantial interest in youth problems, programs and leadership. If the selection committee approved the application it would then requisition the fund for the grant required.

COMMUNITY LEADERS

Community leaders must know something of the sociology and social problems of the districts which they serve. For that reason the Canadian Committee on Education of Social Work is being invited to participate in the selection and training of students. Social work schools are now attached to the University of British Columbia, the University of Manitoba, the University of Toronto, the University of Montreal, Laval University and McGill University.

It is hoped that the fund will be well established before Her Royal Highness returns to England probably some time early this fall.

Henry Kneller Takes Bride

NEW SAREPTA, Alta., Sept. 6—St. John's Lutheran church was the scene of a double ring wedding ceremony, August 30, when Miss Ruth Leona Wegner, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wegner of New Sarepta, became the bride of Henry Kneller, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Kneller of Belly View. The Rev. W. Wahl officiated.

WHITE SATIN

For her wedding, the bride wore a white satin gown fashioned on princess lines with lace insets in the skirt. The fitted bodice featured a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, tapering to lily points over the wrists. Her veil, en train, had bows round the hem and fell from a Mary Queen of Scots headdress. She carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Her only piece of jewelry was a gold locket.

Miss Frieda Buss and Miss Clara Molzah were bridesmaids. Miss Buss wore a gown of white sheer with a gathered skirt and Miss Molzan wore a white satin gown in long fitted torso style. Both carried bouquets of sweet peas.

BRIDE'S BROTHER

Helmut Wegner, brother of the bride, and Reinhold Buss were best men.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Rolly View, where the couple will take up residence.

Slightly smaller than the B-29, the B-32 has a bomb bay that can carry a larger missile than possible to load into the divided bays of the B-29.

● Authorities say the difference between husky children and those who are poor eaters, underweight and nervous is often simply a matter of proper nourishment, usually an adequate supply of vitamins.

But vitamins alone are not enough. For authorities now agree that vitamins alone do not work alone. They work as a team with certain other food elements.

For this reason, thousands are switching to Ovaltine. Unlike mere "vitamin carriers," Ovaltine food beverage contains not only extra vitamins but nearly all the precious food elements needed for health and top vitality. These include Vitamins A, B1 and D, the important minerals calcium, phosphorus and iron, high quality proteins and quick energy fuel—food-a-combination of food elements authorities agree are needed for best results.

So, if your child is thin, nervous and not developing properly, why not turn to Ovaltine as thousands are doing. Three normal meals plus two glasses of Ovaltine a day gives your child all the extra amounts of vitamins and minerals needed for health and top vitality. 164

Your Baby And Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

The child of 2 to 3 years enjoys the most extreme pleasure at seeing events transpire at exactly the same way in which they have always transpired. The child tends to make a ritual of everything he does and any deviation in the order of its doing sends him into a temper tantrum.

When he goes for a walk, if he is used to having the gate opened, the strap adjusted and knows his mother will turn right as she leaves the front walk, then that is the way it must be and if the mother she turns left, the trouble begins. Quite often the mother has no idea what is causing the unholy uproar.

When she puts him to bed for his nap, she must adjust the shades at a precise level, give him the same covers and say the same words as she leaves to room. If not, he refuses to lie down and screams and cries as if he were bitten.

The way in which ornaments are arranged on the small tables, or clothes hung in the closets, or groceries put away on the shelves, is of supreme moment to the child. It must be according to an established pattern.

This is extremely upsetting unless the mother knows the reason for the tantrums, then she has a real aid in getting things accomplished. She deliberately makes a ritual of the daily events of the child's life.

When she wants to get young son to bed and he would prefer to play, she gets him in the mood by enumerating step by step in a playful and story-telling way what happens when a good little boy goes to bed. Then she encourages the child to carry it through as he sees the story-book boy. Once the order of going is established, she repeats it night after night in exactly the same way.

She may use this method of getting him to the toilet or the table as well as to bed. He is a prisoner of his own ritualic but a happy one. This precise order of events unreeling according to the anticipations satisfies the child and creates a sense of security which makes him feel safe and happy.

Our leaflet, "Toilet Training," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of this newspaper.

THESE WOMEN!—"But Harold, if I accepted your proposal, I'd never forgive myself when the right man came along!"

Escapes German Gestapo Now Living in Edmonton

Princess Tatjana Ivana Geigelschwilly of Georgia, Southern Russia, now the wife of Flt. Lt. Gordon A. Russell of the Northwest Command, 185th Squadron, RCAF, has talked back to Hitler, slapped Heinrich Himmler's face, and lived to escape the German Gestapo, and spend week-ends in England with Winston Churchill's family.

She met Hitler at dinner in Berlin in 1935 and looked him straight in the eye and said, "Your Excellency, I am an Aryan. I have not one drop of Jewish blood in my veins. She said it with much sarcasm and Hitler looked at her with burning eyes. Himmler approved the princess in public at a hotel in 1938 and she slapped his face, she said.

Interviewed by The Edmonton Bulletin in the Macdonald hotel on Wednesday afternoon the princess related parts of her life which were very exciting. A swarthy young woman she has dark brown eyes and Italian hair. She and her husband reside at 2210 108 street.

The daughter of Prince Nicholas Geigelschwilly she was born in 1913. She saw the Russian Revolution and lived through the horrors that would have left a gear on her character had it not been for the fact that she refuses to have a broken heart. Both parents and grandparents are shot with many others of the nobility and the princess tells the last surviving member of her family.

SMUGGLED OUT

With the assistance of friends she was smuggled out of the country. She was seven years old then, and was educated in Latvia, later studying philosophy for a year in Estonia, and medicine for three years in Heidelberg and Innsbruck. Everything organic every country in Europe she learned several languages in addition to Russian. These are Latvian, Estonian, Bulgarian, Yugoslavian, Polish, French and English.

Princess Geigelschwilly as a Nordicist learned whatever other girl and boy of the Baltics did, to defend herself, and others, if necessary. She was taught to shoot several guns including a rifle pistol and machine-gun. Later she used to take part in hunting parties and bagged geese and four wolves.

LIKES CANADA

The princess likes Canada. She is a fine skier and took part in the 1936 Olympics in Bavaria, and in 1937 she competed in sports in Austria against Italy.

She said that she had never won any silver cups for her games but had succeeded in capturing a silver cigarette case. Automobile racing is another of her favorite sports.

She lived happily in Austria for two years but trouble began when a travel bureau advised her to take a holiday in Yarmeundle, Germany. It was a submarine and seaplane base and soon she found she was being watched with suspicion. She was wounded for nearly a year. She went to Berlin and friends there warned her at once to be on her guard as the Gestapo was watching her closely. She went into hiding in the top of an hotel there, later going to Innsbruck. She learned otherwise destroyed everything which might be used against her. One day in a restaurant two men approached her and requested that she come outside. When she did they said she was under arrest.

QUESTIONED BY GESTAPO

For several days and nights the Gestapo questioned and cross-questioned her but without success. When they went through her living quarters at the hotel they slashed everything with knives and turned the place upside down. She held up her passport and asked if that was what they were looking for. Finally they put her in prison for seven weeks. It was from that prison men and women were taken to a concentration camp from which they never returned, she said.

After awhile they let her out hoping to play cat and mouse with her and get her to incriminate others. They even asked her to act as a spy for them, since she knew many of the members of the diplomatic services of other countries and spoke several languages. In September, 1938, with some help she slipped across the Bavarian border to Munich and boarded a plane to England. The Nazis confiscated all her property, jewels money and clothes.

WAR EFFORT

When she was in England the princess took her share in the country's war effort. She enlisted in the Auxiliary Territorial Service as motor transport driver and drove everything including tanks, until honorably discharged for medical reasons. It was during this time that she knew Mary Churchill, and spent week-ends in the Churchill home.

The princess met Hitler at a dinner in 1936, she said, and thought him "a rat" but said that Goebbels also "a rat", could be quite charming in private life.

Princess Geigelschwilly's family goes back to 857 AD in Georgia, and prior to that in Persia. The family crest is a white falcon in a crescent moon and a single star.

Her marriage to Flt. Lt. Russell took place in England in March, 1944, where the latter was serving as a test pilot with the RAF.

DIRECTOR.—Mrs. George Hogg, who will direct all classes of the Canadian Health League, opening their season's activities on the Masonic Temple, Thursday afternoon.

Koroseal Most Versatile Material of Post-War Era

One of the most versatile synthetic materials of the post-war era has been unveiled. And the odds and ahs of the continent's leading designers can be heard from coast to coast.

In fact, the arrival of Koroseal on the home furnishings picture carries almost the same impact as a modern block-buster on the military front.

It's revolutionary and it's here ready for civilian use.

It is a material that is waterproof, dustproof, mothproof, windproof and acid and stain resistant.

When you have your post furniture covered with Koroseal, fingerprints, grease and dust will mean nothing. You will just wipe off your couches, chairs—even walls—with soap and water.

This long-awaited miracle-material was born in the research laboratories of the B. F. Goodrich company, unfolding a rifle pistol and machine-gun. Later she used to take part in hunting parties and bagged geese and four wolves.

IMPORTANT ROLE

Koroseal played an important role in tickling both Germany and Japan and now that its war service is over, it will play an even greater role on the home front.

POSTWAR

For the new modern age there is a postwar living room done in a soft sparkling white. The divan, chairs, lamps, coffee table and occasional pieces are apotless. And they will stay that way. How? Just by wiping them off with soap and water.

And although the furniture may be scrubbable, it doesn't have the washboard look. The Koroseal upholstery resembles more than anything else a very fine grade of leather. And because of its pliability, it can be made to look in many ways it's unfair to limit description.

Designers have used the material to make bed spreads, dressing table skirts and draperies that are the daintiest things imaginable—and the easiest cleaned.

Koroseal can be used in the kitchen for wall covering, tablecloths, bowl covers and aprons.

It can be used in the bathroom for shower curtains that will not dry out, crack or stick—for soft and pliant bath mats that look like tiny tufted rugs.

IN THE NURSERY

In the nursery Koroseal really comes into its own. It provides complete protection when it is made up into sheets and mattress covers. It is ideal for bibs and other baby items. And you should see the adorable array of animals and toys designed to be washed time and again to be kept germ free.

For outdoor use porch furniture covered with Koroseal fabrics won't absorb moisture or crack from exposure.

But just about the most remarkable thing about the miracle material is its adaptability to color.

Koroseal comes in new and beautiful shades — everything ranging from the glowing geranium pink to a lovely blue green and an eye-appealing chartreuse.

The material takes to prints, plaids and stripes as well as solid colors.

And for table cloths and curtains there is a transparent fabric. Just think of drapes and curtains as marquisette that you can wipe off with a cloth when they get dusty.

MANY USES

The home furnishing field isn't the only spot where the miracle material is appearing. Clothing designers are adopting it for rainwear, shower capes, aprons, handbags, belts, suspenders and other accessories.

And to end on a note of triumph, research labs have turned out rainproof nylons by weaving a colorless thread of moisture with the regular thread of the stockings.

It's hard to say just when the women of Edmonton will be able to take advantage of the miracle material. As with everything else in these first days of peace, time is the thing. Reconversion and marketing can't take place overnight.

But one of these days—in the not too far distant future—you will be able to laugh when Johnny puts his feet on your sparkling white sofa. And what a day that will be!

PO. Heyworth Takes Bride

PORT McNICOLL, Ont., Sept. 5.—Port McNicoll United church was the scene of the wedding on August 31 at 3 p.m. when Miss Helen Eileen Vail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Vail, of Port McNicoll, became the bride of PO. James Heyworth, RCNVR, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Heyworth of Edmonton. The Rev. J. H. Anderson performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of white barunette-satin, a sweetheart headdress holding her long veil in place and she carried a bouquet of rose glamelia and white corn flowers.

ATTENDS BRIDE

Miss Isobel Dunean was bridesmaid wearing a pink taffeta gown with matching hat of flowers and mohair and carried a bouquet of yellow glamelia and blue cornflowers.

Best man was PO. Frank Keighley, RCNVR, and ushers were Richard Vail and Jack Ramsay.

Mrs. W. Duncan played the wedding music and Miss Joyce Wright sang "I Love You Truly".

Mrs. Vail chose for the daughter's wedding an orchid crepe dress with black accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Georgian hotel in Midland, Ont. Great uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. John Collard, assisted at the reception and Mr. Anderson proposed the toast to the bride.

HONEYMOON

Later the couple left for a honeymoon in Toronto.

Out-of-town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Garrett, Mr. and Mrs. Harry White, PO. Deadman, PO. Parker, Toronto; PO. Keighley, Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McGill, Mrs. George Wilson, Mrs. K. Park, Mrs. McMillan and daughter Marion, Mr. and Mrs. F. Broughton and Miss Joyce Wright, Midland.

Urges Redouble Our Efforts

The glorious fact of peace for the world implies redoubling of Canadian women's efforts in the battle against inflation, said Miss Byrne Sanders, director of Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board in a recent message to all Regional Consumer Branch chairman.

One thousand women in Alberta are directly represented on Consumer Branch through Mrs. Frank J. Conroy, Edmonton, regional chairman. Mrs. H. L. Nicholson heads Calgary sub-committee, Mrs. J. C. Neilsen, Lethbridge, Mrs. A. Reinhardt, Medicine Hat, and Mrs. M. J. Swallow heads Consumer Branch sub-committee at Grande Prairie.

SUDDEN COLLAPSE

Sudden collapse of Japan complicates the women's problem enormously because there will be no time for gradual transition. Public support will have to be multiplied if we are to keep inflation from Canada, said Miss Sanders revealing that public support is not strong enough. A recent Gallup Poll survey shows that just over half of the Canadian people think there is still danger in inflation; most people think the "little chiselers" does no harm; only a small proportion are aware that anything has been done to protect quality in consumer goods; and only a few have any proper conception of the reasons for shortages, Miss Sanders discussed.

APPEALS TO WOMEN

Appealing to women for suggestions to help Canada's economy maintain a steady course, Miss Sanders concluded, "I have a sense of great strength in our women characters and feel that with all we have gone through together, we can face this last momentous period with confidence."

Miss Symborski Becomes Bride

Against a background of summer flowers in St. Josephat's church, September 1 at 6:30 p.m., the marriage was solemnized of Miss Mary Symborski, youngest daughter of Mrs. Pearl Symborski of Edmonton, and Pte. Laurence N. Lane, USAAF, son of Mrs. Martin Lane of Fort Collins, Colo. The Rev. Father Gerlitz officiated.

PRINCESS LINES

For her wedding, the bride wore a slipper-length gown of white satin, fashioned with a bodice on princess lines and a sweetheart neckline. The sleeves were bracelet length, and the skirt full and gathered at the waistline. Her veil, en train, fell from a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses. A tiny cross and pearl earrings, gift of the bridegroom, was the bride's only jewelry.

Miss Ann Symborski, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She wore a taffeta gown in a pastel blue shade with full skirt and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Jerry Prysma of Edmonton was best man.

50 GUESTS

After the ceremony a reception to 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's mother, where Mrs. Symborski, receiving, wore a navy afternoon frock with accessories to tone and a corsage of roses.

The bride's table was set with a white linen cloth and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake. Bowls of summer flowers completed the floral decorations.

The couple will spend a honeymoon at Fort Collins.

Couple Wed At US Chapel

United States Army Air Base chapel was the scene of the wedding September 4, at 7 p.m., when Miss Harriet Marguerite Tuner, of Chicago, became the bride of Cpl. Raymond Henry Taylor, USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Taylor, Chicago. Capt. the Rev. Walter E. Wyman, chaplain at the base, performed the ceremony. The wedding music was to be played on the organ by T-Sgt. Gerald Shields and T-Sgt. George H. Vaughn sang "Oh Promise Me" and "Because."

WORE SUIT

The bride wore a beige wool suit with brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses and gladioli.

Mrs. John F. Davis, matron-of-honor, wore a suit of old rose-brown accessories and a corsage of tea roses and gladioli.

Best man was S-Sgt. John F. Davis.

After the ceremony a reception for 25 guests was held at the Mandarin Gardens, after which the couple left for a honeymoon at Banff and Jasper. On their return will take up residence at 12008 96 street.

TODAY'S MARKETS

Toronto Stocks

TORONTO, Sept. 6—(CP)—Irregularly higher prices ruled in the Toronto stock market today. The golds and industrials had margins on the up side at the close and the other groups were steady to slightly lower. Volume passed the million share mark.

Local Produce

BUTTER PRICES

No. 1, 35; No. 2, 33; No. 3, 31.

CREAM PRICES

Prices for cream delivered to Edmonton creameries: Special grade, 42; No. 1, 40; No. 2, 35; off grade, 30.

All prices include government bonus of 10c to farmers.

EGG PRICES

Dealers now paying to country shippers: A large, 36; A medium, 34; A pullet, 28; grade B, 24; grade C, 18.

Wholesale to retail: A large, 43; medium, 41; A pullet, 35; B, 31; grade C, 24.

Retail to consumers: A large, 49; A medium, 47; A pullet, 41; grade B, 38; grade C, 30.

There is no important change in this egg market. Values remain unchanged from last week and the demand for grade A stocks continues to be in excess of supplies. Receipts through registered stations are even with the previous week and percentage grade A is shown as 41.4 per cent., compared with 36 per cent. for the previous week. Surplus grade B eggs are being transferred to the local drying plant and nine lots were delivered to the dryer for the past week. One carlot of grade C rolled to Winnipeg and deliveries to local military camps were on a reduced basis from the previous week.

POULTRY PRICES

Total receipts of poultry through all processing plants in the province 213,160 pounds, a decrease of 7 per cent. from the previous week. The general quality of fowl continues average, and in the case of chicken continues to show lack of finish. Producers would be well advised to give particular attention to crate or pen fattening over a two-week period to qualify more birds for higher grades, and thus to enhance returns. Two carlots of frozen fowl and chicken were shipped to Seattle, United States, during the past week, and a few small lots to local military camps. The poultry prices are as follows:

LIVE FOWL

No. 1 over 5 pounds	16c
No. 1 3-4 pounds	15c
No. 2 all weights	11c

Trieste May Be Made Free Port

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—Competent sources said today that Britain, confident of American backing, hoped to present to the forthcoming meeting of foreign ministers, opening here Sept. 10, a plan for internationalization of Trieste which would enable land-locked central Europe to use the city as a free port.

Trieste apparently will be one of the main problems in the drafting of an Italian peace treaty, which is high on the agenda of the first meeting of the Big Five's foreign ministers next week.

Diplomatic sources believed Britain would be firm in a refusal to give to Yugoslavia any Italian territory west of the "Morgan line"—a name given to the temporary frontier drawn by the agreement between the Yugoslavs, British and Americans this spring after Marshal Tito was asked to withdraw his troops from Trieste. The "Morgan line" would leave Trieste on the Italian side of the border.

The Italian peace treaty also may encounter difficulties over the future of former Italian colonies in Africa. Qualified observers here say Britain has no desire to add any of this territory to the empire, and there was a likelihood that a trusteeship would be proposed, possibly with the exception of a portion of eastern Cyrenaica, which might be turned over to Egypt.

Shed Is Damaged

A storage shed at 12813 129 avenue, the residence of Joseph Kramar was damaged by fire of unknown origin shortly before 9 p.m. Wednesday. The blaze was believed to have started in one wall near the roof. It was extinguished by booster line equipment from Fire Halls 5 and 8.

Report Clashes

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—The Exchange Telegraph Agency said today in a Singapore dispatch that armed clashes had broken out during the past few nights between members of the Singapore "underground" movement and Japanese collaborators, and at least 100 persons had been killed according to one estimate.

Stamp Sales

During the month of August a total of $2,306 in War Savings Stamps was sold through city outlets. The 101 street stamp bar sales totalled $582.50; post office bar, $585 and miscellaneous sales, $1,138.50.

Irregular Trend In Rye Futures

WINNIPEG, Sept. 6—(CP)—Moving irregularly during the session, rye futures closed 1⅜ lower to ½ cent a bushel higher today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

October finished at $1.60⅞, December $1.50, May 1.46⅞ and July $1.41.

Early gains were erased on a late flurry of selling which found support thin.

Export business was again quiet although the Canadian wheat board announced that it will resume issuing export permits for oats in a "limited" way.

Rye Futures Gain In Chicago Trade

CHICAGO, Sept. 6—(AP)—Rye futures advanced as much as 3⅜ cents a bushel at times today, with the September contract reaching a seasonal high of $1.53¾, on short covering which met a lack of offerings. Profit-taking caused prices to slump considerably near the close, however.

Rye closed ⅞ higher to 1 cent lower, wheat was ¼ to ⅜ higher, corn, unchanged to ⅜ off, oats ⅛ down to ½ upu and barley was up ¾ to 1¼ cent.

Little New Grain Reported Moving

Little new grain from this district has been moving on railroads up to the present, officials of the inspection branch of the Board of Grain commissioners said Wednesday, but the few cars which have come in have graded in the upper brackets, either No. 1 or No. 2 Northern. No prediction is ventured as to the general run of the crop, insofar as grading is concerned, since prospects indicate that returns will be "spotty."

Frost in some isolated districts and widely varying moisture conditions throughout the province tend to make forecasts unreliable.

Youngsters Stage Street Program

Edmontonians were treated to a sing song and demonstration of camp songs, Wednesday night, on 101 street, near Jasper avenue. The entertainers were more than 100 city youngsters, demonstrating songs they had learned at group camps during the summer holidays.

The sing song was a part of the Recreation Week program. Miss Hazeldine Bishop of the group work division of the Council of Social Agencies, and charge of arrangements. The Edmonton Air Cadet band, the Allied Arts Council, and two quartets, the Blue-Grey and the Harmony Four assisted.

The youngsters met at the Market Square, from where they marched to 101 street, led by the band. Banners were carried, each denoting a different group.

Boy Scouts, Queen Alexandra Boys and Girls, YMCA, Sunny Summer Centre Group, Tuxis Boys, YWCA and CGIT participated. A brief address on recreation was given by Harold Fazackerley, chairman of the Council's group work division.

Soldier Counsel Assumes Client Is Found Guilty

By DOUGLAS AMARON

FARNBOROUGH, Hampshire, England, Sept. 6—(CP)—A Canadian general court martial announced today that its findings on two charges against Pte. Edwin Barnard Martin of Riverside, Ont., of aiding the enemy while a prisoner of war, were subject to confirmation and promulgation and a few moments later Lt.-Col. F. F. D. Wallace, of Brantford, Ont., defence counsel, said he assumed this meant his client was found guilty.

The court's announcement was made by Col. M. S. K. Gordon of Ottawa, president of the court martial, following 90 minutes of deliberation in camera following the six-day trial in the reading room of Corunna barracks.

GIVES NO STATEMENT

The 26-year-old Essex Scottish private declined to make any statement after the court's decision was made public or to call character witnesses. He appeared completely unmoved by the announcement and continued to follow the proceedings with the same keen interest he demonstrated throughout the trial.

The charges against Martin were that he acted as an informer for the enemy between January, 1943, and August of the same year, providing information obtained from other prisoners of war, and that between September, 1943, and April, 1945, he was a member of the German-controlled anti-Russian British Free Corps. The trial began last Thursday.

Martin was described today by his counsel as a man who should be given an award for his services in breaking up the British Free Corps, instead of appearing before a Canadian court martial.

After the court's verdict was made known, Col. Wallace delivered a plea for mitigation, saying Martin had "given the best six years of his life to aiding the British cause."

"IN TERROR OF LIFE"

Col. Wallace began the final day of the trial with a summation of his case on behalf of the Essex Scottish private who was captured at Dieppe in 1942 and who admitted in testimony that he was a member of the German-controlled, anti-Russian British Free Corps.

"Martin joined to smash up the corps and when he left, he had smashed it", the counsel said. "There were only eight members left. Martin went in terror of his life.

SHOULD GET AWARD

"He should not be in the dock here, but should be before the King receiving an award for his services in smashing up the British Free Corps".

Later in the morning session, Lt.-Col. J. D. Watt of Ottawa, prosecuting officer, summarized several points of his case against Martin and submitted that there was ample evidence that he voluntarily helped the Germans as an informer.

Col. Watt said that Martin admitted he knew that he should only give his name, rank and number when questioned by the enemy. He asked if it was the accused's intention to work for the Allies, why did he not take someone into his confidence before he started.

CLAIMS AID PROVED

On the second charge that Martin aided the enemy by his association with the corps, Col. Watt contended that no matter what Martin did to get people out of the corps, if he aided the enemy by being a corps member then the charge was proved. He then listed five incidents which he claimed proved that Martin had helped the Germans.

These were: delivering a map-reading lecture, designing a corps flag, assuming the duties of an orderly corporal in the corps house for a week, wearing a German uniform, and dealing with Ziegfeld and other Germans.

Col. Wallace said that if Martin were to gain the objective of obtaining information for the Allies he had to give the Germans some information.

The accused gave the Germans nothing that could help them, said defence counsel.

DOUBTS WITNESS

Col. Wallace questioned the accuracy of evidence given by Pte. John Welsh of the Durham Light Infantry who told the court Martin gave the Germans information about divisional signs, motor torpedo boats, Dieppe tank-landing craft and small arms.

"You must decide whether Welsh is telling the truth," he said.

"Remember Welsh hates Martin because of what Martin did for the British cause against the Germans. Welsh is an accomplice who hates Martin, who hates his guts."

Concluding his address, Col. Wallace said: "We have living witness that Martin at no time aided the German cause. All his efforts from start to finish were for the British Empire and its allies.

"PERHAPS FOOLISH"

"Martin did not try to escape and save his own life. He was not looking out for himself. He was willing to lay down his own life. He gave everything rightly or wrongly to aid the British cause.

"Perhaps he was foolish—I do not know. I admire him for it.

"He broke up the British Free Corps."

City, District Men Returning From Overseas

Among top-ranking officers who returned from overseas aboard the famous flat-top Puncher was Brig. W. S. Ziegler, DSO, distinguished Edmonton officer who was educated at Strathcona high school and University of Alberta.

For outstanding ability in the strategic use of divisional artillery during an advance on the Hitler line in Italy, he was awarded the Distinguished Service Order. He had been overseas since January, 1940. Brigadier Ziegler's wife, the former Mildred Dean, lives with her parents at 10917 81 avenue.

Dominion May Be Represented At Conferences

By ROSS MUNRO

LONDON, Sept. 6—(CP)—Canada may participate in some of the discussions of the council of foreign ministers of the five principal powers—Britain, the United States, Russia, France and China—opening its meeting here next Monday in a conference second only in importance to the Big Three parley at Potsdam in July, it was learned last night from British government sources.

It is understood that Prime Minister Attlee has invited Canada and the other dominions to consider sending representatives to London with a view to taking some part in the discussions when topics of specific interest to any of them come up.

Howe Confirms Soviet Denial Of Stock Deal

OTTAWA, Sept. 6—(CP)—Reconstruction Minister Howe yesterday confirmed a statement by Tass, official Soviet News Agency, denying reports that the Soviet had bought up shares of Canadian uranium mines three years ago.

Canada's main source of uranium is the Eldorado mines at Great Bear Lake, which were expropriated by the Dominion government during the war.

"As far as we can learn the Russians were never interested in purchasing Eldorado stock," Mr. Howe said. "We do not think they ever tried to make a purchase and certainly they never did buy any."

Maj. George Jones, Salvation Army, has returned to Edmonton having completed a tour of duties in several Alberta districts. He has been organizing committees to carry out the Red Shield's Home Front Appeal. The campaign begins Monday, Sept. 10.

$500 Worth of Gasoline Lost

Valuable Liquid Flows Freely

As Heavy Tanker Turns Over

An estimated $500 worth of gasoline was flushed down a water drain on an Edmonton street early Thursday after the trailer attached to a two-and-one-half-ton gas tanker truck overturned on the east side of 97 street.

No one was hurt in the freak accident which left the big tanker on its right side, and the top of a car on which it fell crushed completely out of shape.

Police said the driver of the tanker, Loren L. Allen of Olds, employee of J. E. Thorell, Calgary, was turning from 111 avenue to go south on 97 street at 9:15 a.m. when a tire on the right rear dual wheel of the trailer blew out, and threw the 20,000 pound weight to the right hand side of the vehicle.

The trailer lurched against an automobile owned by William C. Lancaster, Tofield, which was parked against the 97 street curb, and ended up on its right side. Almost immediately, nearly 17,000 pounds of gasoline started to flow freely in the street.

FIRMEN ASSIST

Members of the fire department flushed the motor fuel down the street drains to reduce the fire hazard.

Police said the tire which blew out was in poor condition, almost all the tread having been worn off. The driver of the tanker was travelling at a speed of less than 15 miles an hour, according to eye witnesses.

The trailer was later righted and towed away from the scene.

Says Irrigation Would Help Crops

Soil maps of Alberta indicate there are large areas that would benefit from irrigation, Dr. John A. Widstoe of Salt Lake City, noted irrigation authority and author of texts and reports on the problem, told a meeting of the Northern Alberta local, Agricultural Institute of Canada here Wednesday night.

Suitable rivers as a ready source of water makes irrigation feasible in this province. Since it merely supplements rainfall, irrigation must be considered as an adjunct to dry farming, said Dr. Widstoe, and can be used to advantage even where rainfall might ordinarily suffice.

Highlands Paving Nearly Complete

Paving and resurfacing of the Highlands bus route will be completed by Wednesday of next week, weather permitting, it was announced Thursday by R. C. Marshall, manager, Crown Paving Co.

Concrete work is finished and gangs are now working on the asphalt surfacing of Jasper avenue between Latta bridge and 95 street. Other sections of the route to be resurfaced include the strips between 79 and 82 street on 112 avenue, on 82 street between 112 avenue and Jasper avenue, and on Jasper avenue between 82 and 84 streets.

Rapid progress is being made on overhead wiring, and the McGregor Construction Co., contractors on this phase of the conversion project, now have full gangs operating on the work.

Six of the eight trolley buses ordered for use on the route have been delivered to the street railway system, and the other two are expected within a short time. It is expected the route will be in operation toward the end of September.

License Revenue Sets New Record

Revenue collected by the city license department up to Aug. 31, 1945, totalled $89,937.40, a record for the department. This is an increase of $10,621.75 over the 1944 period, the previous record year, when $79,315.65 was collected in the eight-month period.

During the 1945 period 6,055 general licenses were issued compared with 5,259; 10,947 bicycle tags compared with 11,256, and 4,715 dog licenses against 4,726 for the eight month of 1944.

Sales Brisk as Lots Purchased Near Highlands

Scenes recalling hectic sales of land in Edmonton in the boom days were re-enacted as prospective purchasers lined up Wednesday for the advertised sale of city-owned lots in the Bellevue sub-division, abutting the trolley bus route in the Highlands district.

When land department offices opened for business there were at least 25 customers waiting to purchase lots in this sub-division, and all had made their purchases, paid their deposits on the transactions and left the office within 15 minutes of the doors being opened.

In all, there were 54 lots put on the market in the sub-division, and 37 of them had been sold before the close of business Wednesday. Inquiries have been received for the remainder and it is expected these will be disposed of within the week.

WERE RE-SURVEYED

The city-owned lots in the subdivision were recently re-surveyed and the frontage increased from 33 feet to 44 and 48 feet. Also they are now served by all city utilities, this work being carried through in the 1945 construction program.

The city put a price of $350 on inside lots in the sub-division, and $425 on the corner lots. The subdivision is located south of 112 avenue between 67 and 70 streets.

Allow Servicemen Hunting Permit

Members of the Canadian and United States armed forces who are on active service in Alberta will be considered residents of the province within the meaning of the Game Act.

The new regulation has been made active by an order-in-council passed by the provincial government.

In effect it will mean that such members will be allowed to hunt big game and game birds during the open season, on a resident license. The cost of a resident license is considerably lower than the non-resident license which the men would otherwise have to buy.

There is a provision that applicants may be required to provide documentary proof that they are serving with an active service unit.

4 Alberta Boxers At Utrecht Tourney

Four Alberta boxers took part in the 1945 team boxing championship bouts, held in Utrecht for the Canadian Netherlands forces.

M. Hotra, Evansburg, of the 4th Division, outpointed H. R. Webb, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., 5th Division, Pte. Baumgartner, Edmonton was outpointed by H. E. Folland, McAdam, B.C.; W. McLellan, Beverly, was outpointed by A. R. McGuire, Paynton, Sask.; and G. J. Wagner, St. Paul, knocked out H. G. McLean, Halifax, in the third round.

Final results showed five victories for the 4th Division, while 5th division copped four, losing two bouts by default.

The program was arranged by the Canadian YMCA.

Three Arrested On Theft Count

Edith Mary Delyea, alias Rock, Alex Delyea and Alex Colvin, all of Edmonton, were arrested in Vancouver on instructions from the Edmonton police department Wednesday in connection with the alleged theft last week of $1,340 from another Edmontonian during a party. The money allegedly was stolen while the owner, with a woman and two men were "celebrating" near the Low Level bridge on the Saskatchewan river bank.

If you happen to know of any prospective recruits bring them now, even though the fighting is over.

Let's have every member of the unit out on Friday so that we get off to a flying start.—Rator B. Couper, Capt. Officer Commanding, No. 1 (R) Arm'd Bde., W'S., RCEME.

ROY W. MILLER

Edmonton Gyro Club Honored For Expansion

The Edmonton Gyro club won top honors for membership expansion during the last year over 94 other clubs in the International Gyro organization, Gregory T. Yorke, international vice-president, told members when he was a guest at a dinner at Mayfair Golf and Country club, Wednesday night.

Mr. Yorke, who is in Edmonton returning to his home at Vancouver from the international executive meetings at Chicago told members Western Canadian clubs had distinguished themselves in all of the international club contests and seemed to be "up and coming organizations."

The Edmonton club also won second award for its club publication, The Gyrolog. The Vancouver club won first place in this contest and Seattle was third.

Roy W. Miller, secretary of the Edmonton Gyro Club, is editor of the Gyrolog.

Calgary Gyro Club won first for the best attendance for clubs over 50 members and New Westminster had the best record for clubs with less than 50 members. New Westminster also won top honors for the largest number of new clubs formed.

About 40 members of the Edmonton club attended the golf tournament and dinner in honor of Mr. Yorke. Elections held in Chicago resulted in Clifford L. Van Derbogart of Buffalo, N.Y., as the new international president, and Donald A. Clark, of Port Arthur, Ont., second vice-president, Mr. Yorke announced.

Before the Magistrate

James Lawrie, Edmonton, pleaded guilty to dangerous driving in police court Thursday and was fined $40 and costs or two months' imprisonment. Police said that on Aug. 21 at 6 p.m., accused was crossing the railway tracks on 121 street at 111 avenue. Observing the approach of a train he jumped free of the truck, which was struck by the train and carried a distance of 150 feet. He told court he hadn't seen the train until the last moment.

* * *

Henry E. Lehmann, Edmonton, was fined $15 and costs or 21 days after pleading guilty to failure to return to the scene of an accident. Const. Ross Campbell testified that at 10:45 a.m., Aug. 27, Lehman struck a cyclist at 101 street and 104 avenue, and failed to return to the scene or report the accident.

* * *

Steve S. Ozipko, was fined $5 and costs or seven days for failing to keep to the right of the centre line in turning at the intersection of highways. Police said he was involved in an accident Aug. 16 at 3:10 p.m. and at 109 street and 103 avenue.

* * *

Joe Riczu, who pleaded not guilty, was fined $50 and costs or three months imprisonment for a statutory offence.

* * *

Fred Soltys, charged with assault, was adjourned to Sept. 13. William McArthur was fined $20 and costs or 30 days for intoxication, while A. R. Kelly was fined $5 and costs or 10 days for assault. Lloyd Flynn was fined $30 and costs or six weeks for dangerous driving.

"There we were sitting in my car at the side of the road" Isadore Callahoo, explained in city police court Wednesday, "when the constable comes along like a bear with a sore head. Did he ask us what the trouble was? No! He just jumped on the kid right there; I thought he was going to bite his head off, with his open mouth."

Thus did Callahoo describe his arrest last Aug. 17 by RCMP Const. McWhirter, near the Winterburn Indian reservation. He was charged with consuming liquor in a public place, to wit, in his parked car at the side of the highway. He said that the time he was sitting in the car with his nephew, James Mitchell, discussing what they should do with themselves. Mitchell also appeared in court, to answer the same charge. They were fined $20 and costs or 30 days imprisonment.

Cyril Letawsky, farmer, was fined $100 and costs or three months imprisonment, on a charge of dangerous driving. In addition, his driver's license will be suspended for the next nine months. He was charged with travelling at a speed exceeding 35 miles an hour on the highway through Oliver.

Harold Manning, charged with speeding, was fined $15 and costs or 21 days. For having an inadequate muffler attached to his car's mechanism, he was fined $3 and costs or five days, the sentences to run concurrently.

HOMER

Sees Large Volume Post-War Credits

According to L. S. Crowder, general manager-treasurer, National Retail Credit Association, St. Louis, who addressed the Credit Grantors' Association of Edmonton at the Corona hotel Tuesday evening, indications are that the postwar credit volume will be the largest in the history retailing.

He urged the consideration of a community credit policy, to be adopted when government credit control is discontinued. The importance of voluntary co-operative action and the benefits to accrue to retail credit grantors through consumer education were stressed.

Mr. Crowder stated that unless each community adopted a credit policy—fair to the consumer and Credit Grantor alike—he feared an attempt upon the part of some retailers and manufacturers to emphasize liberal terms, in an effort to build sales at the expense of sound credit.

With the discontinuance of government credit controls, Mr. Crowder stated that he looked for government agencies in the United States to again offer major electrical appliances on from three to five years' time, as was done prior to the war.

At present, postwar credit plans are under consideration by committees of the National Retail Credit Association in 110 cities of Canada and the United States. The personnel of the committees is representative of all types of retail credit granting. He mentioned that recommendations of most of these committees to date favor credit control of one type or another, the majority advocating a sound community credit policy.

have been locking on the councils which are charged with the civic government of our various communities.

Those of us who are not looking forward to an early retirement, but who must live, and earn our living in the future, have a duty to ourselves, our comrades and our children, to see now that the proper foundations are laid, so that we can take full advantage of the opportunities that scientific discoveries of the past decade have opened up for us.

MEANING OF CITIZENSHIP

Returned men who have seen how people live in other older countries, are in a position to realize the good fortune we have to live in a country which possesses so much natural wealth, and so many opportunities as Canada does. More than others they know the meaning of citizenship. It seems only fitting that those men who have fought for freedom should see that we use that freedom properly.

Nobody wants any kind of a government made up entirely of youths or of returned men. That would be just as bad as the kind we have in most places now—where white hair, feebleness, and blindsight are the commonest characteristics.

But the men who now hold office in our civic governments must one day pass on—pass on and hand over the badges of office and the responsibilities of authority to someone else. Surely now would be a good time for them to permit younger, more energetic men—men with hope and vision and ideals—to get the experience which will enable them in time to serve their communities and their country.

Too much in Canada we have suffered from the accepted theory that election to public office gives a man an opportunity of serving himself and helping his friends. It is time we realized that for democracy to succeed and for this country to progress the men we elect to public office must realize that such election gives them the responsibility of serving everyone else and the opportunity of looking to the future and future generations as well as to the present.

GIVE YOUTH A CHANCE

Young men may lack the experience to govern well, but they have a contribution to make which no forward-looking community can afford to deny itself. It is time the older members of each community gave youth a chance, and it is time that youth accepted its responsibilities.
